Article 11.5. Rehabilitation.

12629. The provisions of this article shall apply to any mortgage insurer:

(a) The property, business and assets of which are in possession of the commissioner;

(b) Which is no longer able to conduct the normal business of a mortgage insurer;

(c) Which is unable to discharge its debts or other obligations as they become due;

(d) Which is in such condition that unless such insurer is liquidated or a plan of reorganization consummated a preference is likely to be obtained by some holders of mortgage participation certificates over other such holders, or by some creditors over other creditors of the same class;

(e) Which is in such condition that it will probably be necessary, unless a plan of reorganization is consummated, to liquidate such insurer or to sell or otherwise dispose of a substantial part of its assets at substantially less than the amount which might reasonably be expected to be realized therefrom in the ordinary and proper conduct of a going business.

The determination of the commissioner that a mortgage insurer is included in one or more of the foregoing classifications shall be prima facie evidence of such fact.

12629.21. In the case of a mortgage insurer which has issued mortgage participation certificates under mortgage participation trusts pursuant to the provisions of Chapter VIII, Title II, Part IV, Division I of the Civil Code, such mortgage participation trusts, the mortgage participation certificates issued thereunder and any policies of mortgage insurance issued in connection therewith shall be subject also to the provisions of this article whenever a revision, modification or termination of such trusts, certificates or policies is found by the court to be necessary or advantageous in connection with any plan submitted to it as hereinafter provided.

12629.22. The term "plan" as used in this article means any plan for the rehabilitation, readjustment or reorganization of such mortgage insurer or of all or any part of the business, properties and assets of such insurer, or for the liquidation, reclassification or reorganization of the rights or interests of any or all of the holders of mortgage participation certificates or other certificates or securities or business of mortgage insurance of such insurer, or of any creditors of such insurer and other persons, if any, interested thereby.

12629.23. Without limiting the generality of section 12629.22, a plan may provide for any one or more of the following:

(a) For the delivery of all or any part of the business, properties or assets of such insurer to the commissioner and the return thereof to such insurer after the plan is fully consummated;

(b) For the transfer of all or any part of the business, properties or assets of such insurer to another corporation or to two or more other corporations, which corporation or corporations, one or any of them, may, but need not be, a mortgage insurer or a national trust/savings association;

(c) For the modification, revision or termination of any mortgage participation trusts which have been created by such insurer;

(d) For the issuance of new mortgage participation certificates or assigned mortgage participation certificates or stock, bonds, debentures or other securities of such insurer or of any other corporation or corporations to which the business, properties or assets, or any part thereof, of such insurer have been transferred, and for the exchange thereof to the holders of mortgage participation certificates issued by such insurer or to other creditors of such insurer for the outstanding mortgage participation certificates or other obligations of such insurer or for the full or partial disposition of such new certificates, stock, bonds, debentures or other securities.

12629.24. Any new mortgage insurer formed pursuant to a plan to continue the business of an existing insurer may adopt and continue to use the name of such existing insurer or any part of such name.

12629.25. A plan may be proposed

(a) By the commissioner; or

(b) Subject to the approval of the commissioner by any existing insurer through action of its board of directors.

12629.26. No plan shall be proposed or approved by the commissioner unless the commissioner is satisfied that the plan is fair and equitable and does not discriminate in favor of any class of certificate holders, investors, creditors or other persons affected thereby, and is feasible.

12629.27. A plan if proposed or approved by the commissioner, shall be submitted by the proposer to the superior court of the county in which the principal office of such insurer is located, with a petition that the court determine the fairness of such plan and the approvals necessary to such plan becoming operative, which petition shall set forth such plan and the facts that it has been proposed or submitted by the commissioner and any other facts which such proposer shall deem material to a consideration of the fairness of the plan.

12629.28. Thereupon the court shall fix the time and place for the hearing of such petition and shall direct that notice thereof shall be served on each of the known certificate holders, investors and creditors of such insurer affected by such plan and to the trustee or depository under all mortgage participation trusts created by such insurer and then in execution, together with copies of such plan or a summary thereof, which summary shall be either prepared or approved by the commissioner. If the commissioner shall be the proposer of such plan, the court shall direct such insurer to deliver to the commissioner a list of the names and addresses of all certificate holders, creditors, investors and other persons persons affected by such plan. Said notices shall be mailed, postage prepaid, to the respective addresses as shown on such list, or if no address be there shown, to the last known address.

12629.29. In addition the proposer of such plan shall cause notice of the time and place fixed for such hearing to be posted in three public places in said county not less than twenty days before the day fixed for such hearing and to be published at least once, not less than twenty days nor more than thirty days before the day fixed for such hearing in a newspaper of general circulation published in said county.

12629.30. At the time and place fixed for such hearing or at the time and place to which such hearing may be continued by the court, the court shall hear the parties interested therein and if it finds it necessary may take testimony relative thereto and may accept proof in affidavit form as to any fact or circumstance material thereto.

12629.31. Such hearing shall be, among other things, upon the fairness of the terms and conditions of the issuance of all new or amended mortgage participation certificates, stock, bonds, debentures or other securities to be issued pursuant to such plan and of the exchange thereof for outstanding mortgage participation certificates, claims or property interests, or partly for such exchange and partly for cash, and all persons to whom it is proposed to issue such certificates, stock, bonds, debentures or other securities in such exchange shall have the right to appear and be heard at such hearing.

12629.32. No plan shall be approved by the court unless the court is satisfied that the plan is fair and equitable and does not discriminate in favor of any class of investors, creditors, certificate holders or other persons affected thereby and is feasible. In case an insurer has outstanding mortgage participation certificates issued under one or more than one mortgage participation trust, the holders of mortgage participation certificates in each of such trusts may be considered as one class.

12629.33. After the completion of such hearing the court shall approve, modify or disapprove such plan. No such plan shall become operative unless and until it shall have been approved in its original form or, if modified, in its modified form, by such court and the commissioner, nor unless and until such plan shall have been consented to either in person or by a duly appointed agent, attorney or committee by the following persons:

(a) If the plan affects the stockholders of such insurer, then by the holders of a majority in amount of the outstanding stock of such insurer;

(b) If the plan affects mortgage participation trusts or the holders of mortgage participation certificates issued thereunder, then by the holders of two-thirds in interest of all mortgage participation certificates outstanding under each or all, as the court may determine, of the mortgage participation trusts which may be so affected;

(c) If such insurer shall have creditors, then by two-thirds of each class of creditors of such insurer; and

(d) By two-thirds in amount of each class of other known persons, if any, affected by the plan.

12629.34. Consent shall not be required in the case of any stockholder, mortgage participation certificate holder, creditor or other person, or any class thereof, if:

(a) The rights of such person or class shall not be materially affected by such plan; or

(b) Such plan shall provide for the payment in cash of the value of the right or interest of such person or class.

Such consents shall not be required from stockholders of any insurer if the value of the assets of such insurer shall be less than the liabilities thereof (mortgage participation certificates and policies of mortgage insurance not being included as liabilities), or if the business, properties and assets of such insurer be then in the possession of the commissioner.

12629.35. For the purpose of this article real property, contracts for the sale of real property, loans and all other assets (whether like or unlike the foregoing) shall be valued at what may reasonably be expected to be realized therefrom in the ordinary and proper conduct of a going business.

12629.36. The consents required by this article may be given before the plan is presented to the court or after such presentation and before the court has approved it or after such approval.

12629.37. If at such time as the plan is approved by the court the proportions above required of the stockholders, certificate holders, creditors and other persons, if any, affected thereby shall not have consented to the plan, the order of court may provide that upon satisfactory proof of the fact that such consents have been given a further order may be entered ex parte providing that such plan shall become operative, which further order shall be binding upon the commissioner, the insurer and all such stockholders, certificate holders, creditors and other persons, if any, affected thereby.

12629.39. When the plan shall have been approved by the court and the commissioner, as hereinbefore provided, and shall have been consented to by or on behalf of the respective proportions herein required of stockholders, certificate holders, creditors and other persons, if any, affected thereby, such plan shall be binding upon the commissioner, the mortgage insurer affected thereby, all the stockholders, certificate holders and creditors of such insurer, and all other persons, if any, affected thereby; and such insurer, the trustees and depositaries under all mortgage participation trusts affected thereby and all stockholders, certificate holders, creditors and other persons shall be conclusively deemed to have consented to all the terms and conditions of such plan whether or not all of such persons shall actually have consented thereto and whether or not all of them shall have received notice of such plan or of such hearing, as hereinbefore provided.

12629.40. Thereupon such steps shall be taken by the commission, the trustee and all persons affected by the plan, and all acts shall be done or instruments executed and all new or amended certificates, notes, bonds, debentures, notes or other securities issued as may be required by such plan as proposed and as may be necessary or desirable for the consummation of such plan.

12629.41. In all cases where the plan intended for the redemption, participation or liquidation of mortgage participation trusts and so on including clauses for transfer of the title to trust assets, the title to and management of such trust assets pending the hearing on such plan and its approval by the court and the court may extend for such further period as the court may prescribe and subject to such reserve powers as may be granted by the trust agreement to the trustee or contained in the notes, shall continue in the trustee or depository under the respective mortgage participation trusts affected. Upon the approval of such plan by the court and on completion the trust assets of all such trusts shall be transferred, conveyed, assigned, delivered, or otherwise dealt with, conformably to such plan, as the court may order and direct, upon application of the proponent of such plan.

12629.42. The superior court shall retain jurisdiction of all parties to said proceedings until the plan approved is fully carried out and consummated and the carrying out and consummation of such plan shall be subject to the review and control of such court. In execution thereof the court may make all orders and decrees by way of instruction or otherwise as may be necessary, proper and legal in order to carry out and consummate such plan and secure the ends here intended.

12629.43. No appeal from an order of the superior court approving or modifying a plan shall be effected for any party as herein stated within thirty days after the entry of such order by the appellant or appellants, and within the time so fixed there shall be filed executed on the part of the appellant or appellants by or from one or more of them to the effect that the appellant or appellants, or the court as directed in affirmed or reversed, will pay all of respondent's costs, expenses and reasonable attorney's fees incurred from such appeal, and also all losses and damages to the mortgage holders, insured and other persons, if any affected by such plan, arising from any delay in consummating such plan during the pendency of such appeal. The time of such bond shall be approved and the amount thereof fixed by the superior court but in no event shall such bond be for an amount greater than one per cent of the total liabilities of such insurer, provided that if mortgage participation certificates are affected by such plan such bond shall be for an amount not more than one per cent of the total liabilities of the insurer plus one per cent of the aggregate face amount of all mortgage participation certificates of such insurer outstanding.

12629.44. Appeals from orders approving plans shall be given precedence in the hearing on appeal over all other appeals except criminal criminal cases and cases in which the people of the State are parties.

12629.45. The term "securities" as used in this article shall include not only stock of one or more classes issuable by corporations generally but also notes of national mortgage associations or other Federal agencies, debentures and securities under Federal authority, whose purposes include the financing of income on real estate and also mortgage participation certificates, bonds, notes, debentures, debentures or evidences of indebtedness of (hereafter) banks or other financial institutions.

12629.47. Any executor, administrator, guardian or trustee and any person of any kind or nature, and any insurer, bank, banking institution or trust company, and any officer of the State of California, holding any securities or certificates of a mortgage insurer as a legal investment or as a fund or deposit required by law to be made by the State of California, may, without the necessity of obtaining any specific court approval (a) consent to any plan which has been authorized by the court pursuant to sections 12629.30 to 12629.38 including the exchange and mortgage participation certificates or other securities or notes or bonds for certificates, amended certificates or securities issued pursuant to such plan; and (b) may continue to hold as a legal investment or as a fund or deposit required by law to be made with the State of California any certificates, amended certificates or securities so received.

12629.48. No plan shall be operative pursuant to this article unless approved by the court and consented to as required by this article during the emergency period, which period, for the purposes of this article, shall commence with the effective date of this article and shall expire April 1, 1939, or at such earlier date as the commissioner shall find and declare that such emergency period has terminated; provided, however, that if, prior to the expiration or termination of said emergency period, such plan shall have been approved by the superior court, and shall have been consented to as required by this article, such plan shall become operative unless such approval be set aside on appeal, notwithstanding the fact that such approval of the superior court was not final at the expiration or termination of such emergency period."

BY LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR GEORGE J. HATFIELD.

(Delivered Before the Assembly and Senate in Joint Session.)

No matter how we may disagree politically—and even our disagreements are the signs of a healthy democracy—there is a common bond in America which binds us inseparably.

There are simple precepts which guide us: fundamental ones which bind us.

I speak of them today because they are the first principle of Americanism—the principles handed down, from generation to generation, by the mothers of America to the children of America.

They are basic rules of life and conduct in an orderly, democratic society—rules laid down by our forefathers; rules perpetuated and idealized by our mothers; given us in childhood, blended into our consciousness by those who have given us our finest example of unselfish devotion and true unswerving Americanism—our mothers!

We may disagree as to methods or procedure; we may place new interpretations on old truths; we may be conservative or radical, middle-of-the-road or liberal, but as American citizens, each and every one of us subscribes to these principles:

We believe in freedom of worship; in freedom of speech; in a free press and a free ballot.

We believe in rule of right, rather than rule of might.

We believe in rule of the majority, but we are willing to fight for the right of the minority to be heard—no matter how violently we may oppose what they have to say!

We believe in liberty, but we do not condone license.

We recognize that our own rights and liberties shall be measured, in the final analysis, by our respect for the rights and liberties of others.

We believe in equality of opportunity; we believe, in so far as possible, in wiping out the inequalities of birth and inheritance by equalities of education and preparation for life's battles.

We believe that "the laborer is worthy of his hire."

And we believe that his employer is entitled to a fair measure of the fruits of his accomplishment.

We have regard for the strong, who have pioneered our commonwealth—who have rolled away barriers and opened up new opportunities.

But we have compassion for the weak; we have a regard for the humanities which freely and proudly acknowledge that we are "our brother's keeper", which recognizes that but for the weak circumstances, he might be strong and we might be weak.

We have a certain measure of tolerance; something of kindness; much, I believe, of innate honesty and integrity.

And all of these things which are the backbone of our society are not matters of politics; they are not matters of government in the ordinary sense. They are the principles our mothers have taught us. They have taught us to want to be just, hoping that we would one peace month and take better government, hoping that we would find true happiness, that we would find the true meaning of success in human accomplishment, rather than in dollars in the bank or mortgages on real estate.

And as we honor our mothers today, let us honor, too, the great wisdom which they gave us.

Our mothers would not be interested at all in the bills passed or lost in the motives which motivated them. The only way which they were offered. They might not understand the tricks of parliamentary procedure, but they would be quick to detect our dishonesty. They would indicate opposition when they found we were in defeat; they would be persuaded and sure if they found us winning and victorious in victory.

The mothers of America have made us Americans; they have taught us tolerance and understanding; they have taught us honesty and square-dealing; they have taught us reverence and a regard for human rights; they have given us a standard of success which is far superior with American Mothers.

As we pay tribute to our mothers today, I hope we will do it bravely, bravely and intelligently. We owe it not alone to our mothers, but to ourselves, to rededicate ourselves to the simple principles of honesty and courage, tolerance and self-reliance, free play and free expression, which will build a better Nation—and which will justify the faith of the women who gave us birth and the great principles of mankind and democracy.

In mother's absence, motherhood has been so beautiful and prophetic at times, but it glows with peace, it glows with hope. The peace is in us, the hope is in us. And that today we as a people realize, that with hope and faith in faith, as we look for understanding and strive for justice, we are building a new world.

Let's try to remember the fundamental principles of our Americanism—the principles handed down to us—let's try to let that trust and that sense of endeavor in all the world. MARY R.

Report of Special Committee.

The following report of Special Committee was received:

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Special Committee, organized in pursuance of a resolution introduced by Senator Seawell and adopted by the Senate on May 5, 1937, as printed in the Senate Journal of that day, has honor to report as follows:

The committee believes the attendance rules in the journals of the Senate, that it is the duty of each and every Senator to devote all his working time to conscientious endeavor to meet the responsibilities imposed by virtue of his office and of his obligations to constituents. This includes, of course, his attendance at all sessions and a refusal to absent himself because of personal whim or passing inconvenience. The Senate never discloses its exact a character when personal affairs necessitate his absence.

No member is ever justified in an evasion of his delegated responsibilities and particularly so when important business is being transacted under call of the Senate. Your committee believes that all Senators will agree fully this premise.

The status of Senators and the duties of the chosen officers of the Senate, under the call of the Senate, and otherwise, are clearly set out in Rule 73 and Rule 74, Rules of the Senate. We recommend that the President of the Senate, in the presence of the Senators and in the presence of the elected officers, have read and Rule 73 and Rule 74, Rules of the Senate.

Your committee considers it unnecessary to further inquire into the matter of the roll call of May 5th, referred to in the resolution, as the committee is convinced that if violations of Rule 74 then occurred, such violations were not because of deliberate design to interfere with or thwart the business of the Senate.

SEAWELL, Chairman.
DUELL.
YOUNG.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 323, the same being:

Proceedings Under Call of the Senate.

Messages from the Governor.

The following messages from the Governor were received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

SACRAMENTO, May 7, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 362, the same being:

"An act to amend section 692 of the Political Code, relating to the approval of contracts by the Director of Finance."

Under the present law the acquisition of land by the San Joaquin Drainage District for any purposes for which said district is or may be hereafter authorized to acquire land, must be approved on behalf of the State by the Director of Finance.

Senate Bill No. 362 would amend the law, removing the provision for such approval by the Director of Finance. Believing this hesitation or restriction is of value and should not be denied, I am returning Senate Bill No. 362 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Senate Bill No. 362 ordered placed on the unfinished business file.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

SACRAMENTO, May 7, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 968, the same being:

"An act making bonds issued by California Toll Bridge Authority legal investments and security for certain purposes; and providing that this act becomes effective immediately."

Senate Bill No. 968 seeks to legalize the bonds of the Toll Bridge Authority now issued or to be issued in the future, for investment for all trust funds, and for funds of all insurance companies, banks, both commercial and savings, and trust companies and for State school funds and whenever any moneys or funds now, by law now or hereafter created, be invested in bonds of the State, cities, cities and counties, counties, school districts, or municipalities in the State of California, such moneys or funds may be invested in the said bonds issued by said California Toll Bridge Authority.

The Banking Law of the State provides for the authorization and certification of bonds which upon investigation are found to be suitable for such investments. If as is contended there is any doubt as to whether the bonds of the Toll Bridge Authority are included in the authorization above mentioned, then the banking law should be amended so including such bonds, rather than the passage of a special act, providing the bonds are legal investment without the investigation, certification and power of revocation granted the Banking Department by the general banking law.

I have discussed this matter with members of the Toll Bridge Authority and those interested in the bonds, and it has been agreed this bill should be vetoed and a further measure will be presented to the Legislature amending the banking law to obtain the object desired.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Senate Bill No. 968 ordered placed on the unfinished business file.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

SACRAMENTO, MAY 7, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 973, the same being:

"An act to add section 176 to the Political Code, relating to salaries or wages of State officers and employees."

Under Senate Bill No. 979, it is provided that when in the payment of wages or salaries, where the State government funds the salary or employee would be required to execute a power of attorney in connection to the disbursing officer who would be empowered to deposit the amount of such salaries from any money due or to become due to the employee.

It appears to me that it is impracticable method of handling such business, and that employees should not be required to execute a power of attorney in connection to the disbursing officer.

I am, therefore, returning Senate Bill No. 979 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Senate Bill No. 679 ordered placed on the unfinished business file.

Messages from the Governor.

The following messages from the Governor were received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

SACRAMENTO, May 10, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 218, the same being:

"An act to authorize and empower boards of supervisors to levy a tax for advertising, exploiting, promoting and aiding measures to preserve, aid or develop the agricultural, horticultural, viticultural and water resources and advantages of their several counties, and also for investigating, gathering statistics and maintaining records as to matters affecting the economic welfare of their several counties and their inhabitants."

This bill would authorize the boards of supervisors of the various counties to levy an additional tax not to exceed 4 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation of all property within the county, to provide a fund to be used by the boards of supervisors for advertising, exploiting, promoting and aiding measures designed to preserve, aid or develop the agricultural, horticultural, viticultural and water resources and advantages of their several counties.

Since I am committed to a program of economy, and one that will not increase the taxes in the State of California, I am returning this measure without my approval. If this small increase in taxes were to be used for advertising, it would not be so objectionable. The measure, however, would permit exploiting and promoting, which activities may not be classified as beneficial to all the people.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Senate Bill No. 218 ordered placed on the unfinished business file

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

SACRAMENTO, May 7, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 140, the same being:

"An act to add a new section to the California Irrigation District Act to be numbered section 47 1, relating to actions concerning land devoted to irrigation districts for delinquent irrigation district taxes or assessments."

The present law provides that any person may bring an action to set aside, cancel or question the validity or regularity of any agreement of sale, deed, lease or apportionment executed by the district in disposing of land theretofore devoted to the district by its collector for delinquent taxes or assessments, such person being allowed three years within which to commence such action.

Senate Bill No. 140 would reduce this time to six months. Relieving such limitation is not justified, and that a person should be allowed the three years within which to bring action regarding real estate transactions in the State of California, I am returning Senate Bill No. 140 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Senate Bill No. 140 ordered placed on the unfinished business file

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

SACRAMENTO, May 10, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 58, the same being:

"An act to amend section 4 of an act entitled 'An act creating the office of Chief of the Division of Narcotic Enforcement, providing for appointment to, powers and duties of such office, making an appropriation to carry out the provisions hereof, and repealing an act entitled 'An act to provide for the establishment and maintenance of a Division of Narcotic Enforcement under the direction and control of the State Board of Pharmacy,' approved May 17, 1927,' approved April 30, 1929, relating to employees of the Division of Narcotic Enforcement."

Since several provisions appear in this bill which do not have the approval of the author, nor my approval, I am returning Senate Bill No. 58 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.

SACRAMENTO, May 10, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate.

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 379, the same being:

"An act to authorize boards of trustees of school districts to pay certain claims."

Attorneys who have analyzed this bill pronounce it unconstitutional, in that it appears to be a violation of section 31 of Article IV of the Constitution, which prohibits the Legislature from authorizing the giving or lending of the credit of the State, or of any county, city and county, city, township or other political corporation or subdivision of the State, in aid of or to any person, association or corporation.

For the reasons above given, I am returning Senate Bill No. 379 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK F. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

WHEREAS, Said commission did prepare and submit to the Legislature in 1929 a School Code which was adopted by the Legislature and enacted into law; and

WHEREAS, The School Code contained a number of defects which the said commission because of the limitations upon its authority was unable to prevent, which seriously impair an understanding and the proper application of the provisions of the School Code, and which have become intensified since the enactment of the School Code; and

Report.

The following report by the California Toll Bridge Authority, pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 17, was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT ON DUMBARTON TOLL BRIDGE.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 17.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA. DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

SACRAMENTO, May 8, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the State Legislature of California, Session of 1937.

Pursuant to the provisions of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 17 (Chapter 40, Statutes 1937), which provides for a survey and investigation by the California Toll Bridge Authority concerning the feasibility and practicability of the acquisition by the State or the authority of the Dumbarton Toll Bridge across San Francisco Bay, we have the honor to transmit to you the results of such survey and investigation in the accompanying report.

Respectfully submitted.

CALIFORNIA TOLL BRIDGE AUTHORITY.
By EARL LEE KELLY, Secretary.

900. April 30, 1937.

MR. KELLY: Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 17 directs that the California Toll Bridge Authority make a survey and investigation of the Dumbarton Toll Bridge across San Francisco Bay to obtain specified information to be delivered to the Assembly prior to April 27, 1937. In connection therewith there is submitted the following preliminary engineering data.

The resolution directs that the survey and investigation be made with a view to the feasibility and practicability of its acquisition as of October 1, 1937, and as of July 1, 1938, either by purchase, or condemnation, by the State or California Toll Bridge Authority, and that it shall comprehend the following items:

(1) "the appraisal of the value of the structure in case of its acquisition." The value of this right is here appraised on the basis of the present worth of its estimated net earnings during the remaining life of the franchise.

(2) "the amount of compensation to the owner which * * * should be paid on the basis of the value of this structure and the length of time which the franchise has yet to run."

The present value of its estimated future earnings capitalized at 8 and 10 per cent. is computed as shown on the attached table of past and estimated future earnings. Future earnings follow a trend generally proportional to an expected population increase in the adjacent counties. The uncertainties connected with the future effect upon this bridge of changes in tolls on the Bay Bridge or the San Mateo Bridge, the important changes in highway connections that are possible and the long period covered by the franchise makes a rate of capitalization of 10 per cent appear reasonable.

(3) "The feasibility of providing funds for such acquisition by issuing and selling revenue bonds."

The providing of funds by issuing revenue bonds is provided for by the Toll Bridge Authority Act. The feasibility of issuing such bonds bearing a 3 1/2 per cent or lower rate of interest is doubtful under the present condition of the bond market. Conditions may change materially before proceedings to acquire the bridge are completed.

(4) "The rate of tolls by it estimated as necessary to collect pending the retirement of such revenue bonds."

The franchise to collect tolls on this bridge was granted November 20, 1924, for a 50-year period. It is not believed that a 100-year period under State operation could be considered and that the tabulated rate of tolls required for a 20-year period of operation, which this resolution also requests, will serve to answer the above question.

(5) "The reduction, if any, in the rate of tolls which may be effected immediately upon the acquisition of said toll bridge."

From the attached table of necessary toll rates for a 20-year operation period, it is seen that for a bond issue of $1,500,000, a satisfactory interest rate of 3 per cent and including operating costs, an average toll of $0.47 to $0.50 is required. If operating costs are paid out of highway funds, the necessary tolls are approximately $0.14 less. The average toll now for the year 1936 under private operation was $0.53 showing that a saving is possible under State operation, even at this time at the end of 20 years. Toll rates for trucks have been and are likely to be charged in the future in order to meet competition from the San Mateo or Bay Bridges. Toll rates for passenger vehicles have remained fairly constant.

The resolution also requests the following information:

(a) "Itemized tables of the annual amounts estimated as necessary to retire such revenue bonds over a 20-year period together with interest computed thereon computed at 3 per cent, and with interest computed at 4 per cent."

The average tolls necessary to retire various amounts of bonds in 20 years after date based on 3 per cent, 3 1/2 per cent and 4 per cent rates of interest are shown in the attached table already mentioned.

(b) "Itemized tables of the traffic over said bridge for the years 1932 to 1936, inclusive, showing by years the amount of annual volume of traffic and the receipts from each class at the present toll rates together with the amount of the amount of annual traffic over said bridge at the present rate of tolls from the first of January, 1937, to the expiration of the franchise on said bridge."

The estimated future traffic is given in the table mentioned in connection with question No. 2 above. A table is attached showing past traffic by classes. There is also shown the receipts from the various classes of traffic for the years 1934, 1935 and 1936. It was necessary to go through the daily traffic records to obtain this last information requiring a considerable amount of time and labor and it was also found that daily records of traffic previous to 1934 had been destroyed so it is impossible to furnish the data requested for 1932 and 1933.

(c) "Itemized tables, by years, showing the estimated cost of the operation and maintenance of said bridge and of the estimated cost of collecting tolls thereon for a period of 20 years, together with a report upon the propriety and feasibility of paying such maintenance, operation and toll collection costs from the gas tax fund."

The average future cost of operation is estimated as follows:

Item	Drumheller Bridge
Office salaries-----	$2,400.00
Toll collection-----	10,800.00
Power, light, phone-----	1,000.00
Insurance-----	5,800.00
Maintenance-----	20,000.00
	$40,000.00
Contingencies and miscellaneous-----	5,000.00
	$45,000.00

County taxes amounting to approximately $5,050 are not included. Toll collection is based on an average of six toll collectors at $150 per month. The cost of maintenance of the road approaches which cross the toll flats each side of the bay is heavy and considerable expense would be necessary to bring the road up to State highway standards. Nothing is known at this time as to the condition of the left span or machinery. A careful and thorough inspection of the bridge would be necessary to determine its actual condition. Owing to the limited time available it was not possible to make a complete engineering investigation of the structure prior to the submission of this report.

(d) "a report upon the effect the lowering of tolls upon said bridge may have with respect to the volume of traffic which may be expected to use the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge."

Origin-destination counts of transbay traffic taken May 15-21, 1936, in connection with traffic studies for the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge show only about 3 per cent of the passenger traffic and less than 2 per cent of the truck traffic terminating in a general way as follows:

West Bay side—

San Mateo County and lower peninsula.

San Francisco, south of the Civic Center and the business district.

East Bay side—

Alameda County.

San Joaquin County.

San Joaquin Valley.

It is now some eighteen miles longer from the Civic Center in San Francisco to Livermore Junction via the Dumbarton Bridge and Niles Canyon than it is via the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge, and eight miles longer via the San Mateo Bridge and Dublin Canyon. It appears, therefore, that the effect of lowering tolls on the Dumbarton Bridge would have a negligible effect on passenger traffic over the Bay Bridge and affect less than 2 per cent of the truck traffic, even if made toll free.

A relative reduction of tolls on the Bay Bridge would, on the other hand, draw a like amount of traffic from the San Mateo and Dumbarton Bridges which loss in traffic would be a relatively larger per cent of the total traffic on these bridges.

There is attached for general information and reference the following data published by the Dumbarton Bridge Company:

REPORT ON SAN MATEO-HAYWARD TOLL BRIDGE.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 17.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

SACRAMENTO, May 8, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the State Legislature of California, Session of 1937.

Pursuant to the provisions of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 17, (Chapter 40, Statutes 1937), which provides for a survey and investigation by the California Toll Bridge Authority concerning the feasibility and practicability of the acquisition by the State or the Authority of the toll bridge across San Francisco Bay between San Mateo and Hayward, we have the honor to transmit to you the results of such survey and investigation in the accompanying report.

Respectfully submitted.

CALIFORNIA TOLL BRIDGE AUTHORITY.

By EARL LEE KELLY, Secretary.

900. April 27, 1937.

MR. KELLY: Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 17 directs that the California Toll Bridge Authority make a survey and investigation of the toll bridge across San Francisco Bay between San Mateo and Hayward to obtain specified information to be delivered to the Assembly prior to April 27, 1937. In connection therewith there is submitted the following preliminary engineering data.

The resolution directs that the survey and investigation be made with a view to the feasibility and practicability of its acquisition as of October 1, 1937, and as of July 1, 1938, either by purchase, or condemnation, by the State or California Toll Bridge Authority, and that it shall comprehend the following items:

(1) "the appraisal of the value of the structure in case of its acquisition".

The value of the structure is the value of its franchise right to take tolls. The value of this right is here appraised on the basis of the present worth of its estimated net earnings during the remaining life of the franchise.

(2) "the amount of compensation to the owner which should be paid on the basis of the value of this structure and the length of time which the franchise has yet to run."

The present value of its estimated future earnings capitalized at 8 and 10 per cent, is computed as shown on the attached table of past estimated future earnings. Future earnings follow a trend proportional to an expected population increase in the adjacent counties. The uncertainties connected with the future effect upon this bridge of changes in the tolls on the Bay Bridge or the Dumbarton Bridge, the important changes in highway connections that are possible and the long period covered by the franchise makes a rate of capitalization of 10 per cent, appear reasonable.

(3) "the feasibility of providing funds for such acquisition by issuing and selling revenue bonds."

The providing of funds by issuing revenue bonds is provided for by the Toll Bridge Authority Act. The feasibility of selling such bonds bearing a 3½ per cent or lower rate of interest is doubtful under the present condition of the bond market. Conditions may change materially before proceedings to acquire the bridge are completed.

(4) "the rate of tolls by it estimated as necessary to collect pending the retirement of such revenue bonds."

The franchise to collect tolls on this bridge was granted July 11, 1927, for a 50-year period. It is not believed that a like period under State operation need be considered and that the tabulated rate of tolls required for a 20-year amortization period, which this resolution also requests, will serve to answer the above question.

(5) "the reduction, if any, in the rate of tolls which may be effected immediately upon the acquisition of said toll bridge."

From the attached table of necessary toll rates for a 20-year amortization period it is seen that even for a bond issue of $5,000,000, a maximum interest rate of 4 per cent and including operating costs, an average toll of $0.74 to $0.82 is required. If operating costs are paid out of highway funds, the necessary tolls are approximately $0.15 less. The average toll rate for the year 1936 under private operation is $0.86 showing that a saving is possible under State operation even if tolls cease at the end of 20 years. On February 1, 1937 the passenger car toll was reduced to 50 cents per car and several other changes in tolls were made previously. A statement covering toll rates has been prepared by the San Francisco Bay Toll Bridge Company and is attached hereto.

The resolution also requests the following information:

(a) "Itemized tables of the annual amounts estimated as necessary to retire such revenue bonds over a 20-year period together with interest computed thereon computed at 3 per cent, and with interest computed at 3½ per cent."

The average tolls necessary to amortize various amounts of bonds in 20 years after date based on 3 per cent, 3½ per cent and 4 per cent rates of interest are shown in the attached table already mentioned.

(b) "Itemized tables of the traffic over said bridge for the years 1932 to 1936, inclusive, showing by years the amount of different classes of traffic and the receipts from each class at the present toll rates together with an estimate of the amount of annual traffic over said bridge at the present rate of tolls from the first of January, 1937, to the expiration of the franchise on said bridge."

Two attached tables furnish the above requested information.

(c) "Itemized tables, by years, showing the estimated cost of the operation and maintenance of said bridge and of the estimated cost of collecting tolls thereon for a period of twenty years, together with a report upon the propriety and feasibility of paying such maintenance, operation and toll collection costs from the gas tax fund."

The average future cost of operation is estimated as follows:

Item	San Mateo Bridge
Office salaries	$2,400.00
Toll collection	14,400.00
Power, light, phone	4,000.00
Insurance	12,000.00
Maintenance	20,000.00
	$72,800.00
Contingencies and miscellaneous	7,000.00
	$79,800.00

County taxes amounting to approximately $15,100 are not included. Toll collection is based on an average of eight toll collectors at $150 per month. The cost of maintenance of the road approaches which cross the tide flats each side of the bay was about $2,500 per mile in 1936 and considerable expense will be necessary to bring the road up to State highway standards. Nothing is known at this time as to the condition of the lift span or machinery. A careful and thorough inspection of the bridge would be necessary to determine its actual condition. Owing to the limited time available it has not been possible to make such an investigation prior to the preparation of this report.

(d) "a report upon the effect the lowering of tolls upon said bridge may have with respect to the volume of traffic which may be expected to use the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge."

Origin-destination counts of transbay traffic taken May 15-21, 1936 in connection with traffic studies for the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, show that about 3 per cent of the passenger traffic and less than 2 per cent of the truck traffic terminating in a general way as follows:

West Bay side—

San Mateo County and lower peninsula.

San Francisco, south of the Civic Center and the business district.

East Bay side—

Alameda County.

San Joaquin County.

San Joaquin Valley.

Since it is now some ten miles longer from the Civic Center in San Francisco to Hayward and the entrance to the Dublin Canyon via the San Mateo Bridge than via the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge, it is seen that tolls and other conditions being equal the dividing point for economic length of haul would be along the San Mateo-San Francisco County line. If the San Mateo Bridge was made entirely free and tolls on the Bay Bridge did not change, passenger vehicles could economically travel some 15 miles extra to avoid the tolls and trucks a matter of 20 miles or more. From this it would appear that traffic over the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge might be decreased a maximum of 2 or 3 per cent under the most extreme assumption.

A relative reduction of tolls on the Bay Bridge would on the other hand, draw a like amount of traffic from the San Mateo and Dumbarton Bridges which loss in traffic would be a relatively larger per cent of the total traffic on these bridges.

There is attached for general information and reference the following data furnished by the San Francisco Bay-Toll Bridge Company.

Statement Covering Tolls Charged on the San Mateo-Hayward Bridge Furnished by W. A. Deuel, President, S. F. Bay Toll Bridge Company, April 1, 1937.

PASSENGER CAR TRAFFIC

The original franchise fixed the toll on passenger cars at 45 cents per car and 5 cents per person. On November 4, 1929, by advice of a representative of New York bankers the rates were revised to 60 cents per car and 10 cents per person. As this increase was coincident with the stock market crash, preventing the depression period, the exact effect of the increase could not be determined.

On July 7, 1930, a 50 cent return trip price was made effective. This is usually made the toll each way on round trips 55 cents per car and 5 cents per person. These rates remained in effect until November 13, 1930, when with the opening of the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge, the toll was reduced to 45 cents per car and $1.20 round trip with no charge for persons. On February 1, 1937, the toll over the new bridge was reduced to 50 cents per car, but as yet this bridge has made no further reduction.

On January 13, 1930, a monthly commute rate of $25, regardless of the number of trips made during the month, was granted. Later this rate was reduced to $15 with a 60-trip book for students at $13.50.

COMMERCIAL CAR TRAFFIC

The original franchise established a rate on empty trucks based on their commercial rating with 50 cents each ton trucks and a flat rate of 50 cents per ton of freight carried. On June 3, 1929, the toll on freight was reduced to 25 cents per ton for the first six tons and 10 cents per ton for all load in excess of six tons. Later a flat rate was adopted for commercial vehicles which have loadable capacity in the scales, such as live stock and gasoline. There were also certain special vehicles whereby a shipper of large lots of merchandise could arrange the toll charges on a flat tonnage basis. Otherwise the commercial tolls have not been changed.

MISCELLANEOUS TRAFFIC

Very little change has been made in tolls for motorcycles, tractors, buses, ferries, etc., and the receipts from these sources are too small to be accounted in itemized receipts.

Due to the aftermath of the widespread depression many taxpayers are unable to pay their taxes or to reduce their property taxes due to the State the delinquency. This not is intended to secure and property from the economy and impose burden of taxation to which it has been subjected by imposing the responsibility of the local governmental units thereby requiring economy in those administrations. Unless this act goes into immediate effect there will be no provision of law limiting these expenditures of local governmental units when budgets and appropriation ordinances are being enacted for the ensuing fiscal year with the result that the salutary purposes of this act will be lost, the necessity of the emergency, biological and public peace, health and safety threatened by wasteful extravagance, profligacy resulting in the impairment of all governmental functions.

(b) The moneys referred to in subdivision (a) of this section, allocated to the counties and any city and county may also be used as now or hereafter provided by the Legislature for the following additional purposes, provided such use will not in any manner cause the loss of Federal highway funds to this State:

(1) For the payment of any portion of the principal or interest of, or for the purchase or redemption at a discount of, or for transfer to the interest and sinking fund for the discharge and payment of bonds voted at any election prior to January 1, 1935, and issued by a city, city and county, or county, the proceeds of which have been used for the purposes specified in paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of section 1 of this article.

(2) For the payment, redemption, discharge, purchase, adjustment, contributing to or refunding of special assessments or bonds or coupons issued to implement such special assessments, which assessments were imposed when the ordinance or resolution of intention was adopted prior to January 1, 1933, for the improvement of rights of way or easements for or for the construction or improvement of public streets, highways or parks.

SEC. 3. The provisions of this article are self-executing but the Legislature shall have full power to appropriate said moneys and to provide the manner of their expenditure by the State, counties, cities and counties or cities for the purposes specified and to enact legislation not in conflict with this article. This article shall not prevent any part of the moneys referred to in sections 1 or 2 hereof from being temporarily loaned to the State general fund upon condition that the amount so loaned shall be repaid therefrom to the funds from which so loaned to be used for the purposes specified in sections 1 or 2 hereof.

SEC. 4. This article shall not affect or apply to any license fee or taxes imposed by Chapter 339, Statutes of 1933 as amended, nor to any law which is now or may hereafter be imposed by the "Retail Sales Tax Act of 1935," as amended, or the "Use Tax Act of 1935," as amended, in so far as either or both of such acts apply to the sale of any vehicle of a type subject to registration, nor shall it affect or repeal any provision of the "Unemployment Relief Bond Act of 1933," Chapter 207, Statutes of 1933, as approved by section 9 of Article XVI of this Constitution, nor shall it affect or invalidate Chapter 362, Statutes of 1935 as amended, imposing a motor vehicle license fee based upon value. The Legislature may continue in effect the tax imposed by Chapter 362, Statutes of 1935 as amended, provided that the continuation of, or any amendment to, said Chapter 362 shall provide that the revenue from said tax, excluding the costs of collection and subscriptions to counties, cities and counties, and cities, shall first be applied to the payment of principal and interest on all State highway bonds outstanding on the effective date of this article. In the event the tax imposed by said Chapter 362, Statutes of 1935 as amended, is repealed, the Legislature may make provision for such payment of said State highway bonds by means of any fees or taxes of the types mentioned in this article, whether now or hereafter imposed, provided such payment will not in any manner cause the loss of Federal highway funds to this State.

Nothing in this article shall be construed as repealing, suspending or modifying that provision of section 15 of Article XIII of this Constitution, reading as follows:

"Out of the revenue from State taxes for which provision is made in this article, together with all other State revenues, there shall first be set apart the moneys to be applied by the State to the support of the public school system and the State university."

In the event, however, moneys are transferred to the general fund of the State from the funds referred to in this article for the support of the public schools and the State university, pursuant to section 15 of Article XIII of this Constitution, the moneys so transferred shall be returned to the funds from which they were transferred from the first moneys available in the general fund in excess of those

3353. "Independent contractor" means any person who renders service for a specified recompense for a specified result, under the control of his principal as to the result of his work only and not as to the means by which such result is accomplished. As a means to provide security for payment of compensation, award, such independent contract imports, and is conclusively presumed to contain a provision by the principal to the independent contractor, for the expressed benefit of employees of the latter who perform service in execution of the contract, and of dependents of killed employees, which promise need not be in writing, that he will guarantee that the independent contractor will meet fully his obligations to said employees incurred in the execution of said contract and under this division, and will answer to said employees and dependents and each of them for the independent contractor's debt, default or miscarriage with respect thereto. The condition of the guaranty shall be such that if the independent contractor shall pay any award, or if more than one, then all awards which shall be rendered against him by the Industrial Accident Commission of the State of California, for the injury or death arising out of and occurring in the course of the execution of said contract and under this division within thirty days after the same becomes or become final, then the above guaranty shall be void, otherwise to remain in full force and effect. Such promise may be enforced by such employee or dependent by application to and award by the Industrial Accident Commission in favor of the beneficiary and against the guarantor, without notice to the guarantor, for the amount of the unpaid portion of said award against the independent contractor, and shall exclude liability for added penalty which the commission may impose against the independent contractor for wilful misconduct or wilful uninsurance.

SEC. 2. Section 3605 is hereby added to the Labor Code, to read as follows:

3605. The compensation due a minor may be paid to him until his parent or guardian gives the employer or the latter's compensation insurance carrier written notice that he claims such compensation.

SEC. 3. Section 3755 of the Labor Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

3755. If it be made to appear in any proceedings before the Industrial Accident Commission that the employer was at the time of the injury complained of insured with any insurance carrier against liability for compensation, said carrier may be joined forthwith and said proceedings shall not abate because of said joinder but shall be continued against both the employer and the carrier. An employer insured with State Compensation Insurance Fund shall thereby become relieved from all liability for personal injuries or death sustained by his employees, and the persons entitled to compensation shall have recourse therefor only to the State Compensation Insurance Fund and not to the employer. An employer shall not otherwise be relieved from liability for compensation except by the payment thereof by himself or his insurance carrier, and shall be entitled to a provisional discharge predicated upon payment in full, and the Industrial Accident Commission shall have continuing jurisdiction to reinstate the employer in the event of nonpayment by said insurance carrier without any limitation of time whatsoever.

SEC. 4. Section 4058 is hereby added to the Labor Code to read as follows:

4058. Within five days after written notice of the filing of an application for compensation, copies of all hospital and medical records and reports, including all radiographs pertaining thereto, in the possession of any physician treating or who has treated such injured or deceased employee, or in the possession of any insurance carrier or employer or in the possession of the applicant, in connection with such employee's hospitalization or treatment, shall be delivered to and filed with the commission and shall be open to the inspection of the applicant and the defendant. In case any new or additional medical reports or radiographs are taken, the same or copies thereof shall be so filed within ten days after such examination unless otherwise ordered by the commission. Such reports and radiographs when filed shall be immediately available to all parties. Any such records and reports, copies of which have not been so filed with the commission, unless otherwise ordered by the commission, may not be introduced in evidence by the party to the proceeding who is responsible for the failure to file such records and reports or at whose instance they were prepared.

SEC. 5. Section 4451 of the Labor Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

4451. The average annual earnings shall be taken as three hundred times the daily wage received by the employee at the time of his accident, and the average weekly earnings shall be two per cent of his average annual earnings.

SEC. 6. Section 4452 of the Labor Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

4452. Three times the average annual earnings shall be taken at not less than $2,000 nor more than $5,999.76 in disability cases, and in death cases shall be taken at not less than $2,000, nor more than:

(a) $5,000, if the death of the employee occurs on or before March 31, 1938.

(b) $6,000, if the death of the employee occurs after March 31, 1938.

SEC. 7. Section 4453 of the Labor Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

4453. In no case may average weekly earnings be computed at less than $10 per week nor more than $38.46 per week.

(a) Where the employee is working for two or more employers at or about the time of the injury, the average daily earnings shall be the aggregate of such earnings from all employments computed into terms of one day; provided that the earnings from employments other than the employment in which the injury occurred shall not be taken at a higher rate than the hourly rate received at the time of the injury.

(b) In determining such average daily there shall be included overtime and the market value of board, lodging, fuel and other advantages received by the injured employee as part of his remuneration, which can be estimated in money, but such average daily earnings shall not include any sum which the employer may pay to the injured employee to cover any special expenses entailed on him by the nature of his employment. In the absence of a specific agreement or satisfactory evidence therefor, the value of lodging shall be fifty cents per day, and the value of board on the basis of three meals per day shall be $1 per day.

(c) If the injured employee is under 21 years of age, and his incapacity is permanent, his average daily wages shall be deemed within the limits fixed to be the daily sum that under ordinary circumstances he would probably be able to earn after attaining the age of 21 years in the occupation in which he was employed at the time of the injury, or in any occupation to which he would reasonably have been promoted if he had not been injured, and if such probable earnings after attaining the age of 21 years cannot reasonably be determined, such earnings shall be based upon $3 a day.

(d) Where for any reason the foregoing method of arriving at average daily earnings of the injured employee can not reasonably and fairly be applied, such average daily earnings shall be fixed at such sum as shall reasonably represent the average daily earning capacity of the injured employee at the time of his injury, due consideration being given to his actual earnings from all sources, earnings and activities.

Sec. 8. Sections 4454 and 4455 of the Labor Code are hereby repealed.

Sec. 9. Section 4600.12 is hereby added to the Labor Code, to read as follows:

Sec. 11. Section 4600.14 is hereby added to the Labor Code, to read as follows:

4600.14. This article does not prevent voluntary payment of amounts higher than the fees and charges fixed by schedule, but no physician rendering medical treatment or care may receive payment in any higher amount unless such increased amount has been authorized by the employer, or by decision of the commission. This article does not prevent the employment of a duly authorized physician on a salary basis by an authorized compensation medical bureau or laboratory.

Sec. 12. Section 4600.15 is hereby added to the Labor Code, to read as follows:

4600.15. The commission may require examination of any applicant by a physician especially qualified with respect to the diagnosis or treatment of the disability for which compensation is claimed and may require a report from such physician on the diagnosis, the causal relationship between the alleged injury and subsequent disability, proper treatment, and the extent of the disability of such applicant. The physician to conduct such examination shall be designated by the commission from a panel of especially qualified physicians to be selected by the commission. If for any reason during the period when a physician's treatment and care is required, the employee wishes to transfer his treatment and care to another authorized physician, he may do so in accordance with rules prescribed by the commission. In such instance the remuneration of the physician whose services are being dispensed with shall be limited to the value of treatment rendered at minimum fees as established in the schedule for his district, unless payment in higher amounts has been approved as authorized herein. If the employee is unable due to the nature of the injury to select such authorized physician and the emergency nature of the injury requires immediate treatment and care, or if he does not desire to select a physician, and in writing so advises the employer, the employer shall promptly provide him with the necessary physician's care. The employee, when subsequently able to do so, may select for continuance of any treatment or care required, any physician authorized by the commission to render medical care as herein provided.

(b) Under the active and personal supervision of an authorized physician medical care may be rendered by a registered nurse, registered physiotherapist or other person trained in laboratory or diagnostic technics within the scope of such persons' specialized training and qualifications. This supervision shall be evidenced by signed records of instructions for treatment and signed records of the patient's condition and progress. ### Statement by the Secretary.

The Secretary of the Senate, J. A. Book, made the following statement which was ordered printed in the Journal:

Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

At about six o'clock last evening (Monday, May 17, 1937), when I was alone in the Senate Chamber, Mr. Mark Lee Magliabery, Jr., Private Secretary to the Governor, entered the Chamber and handed to me a communication from the Governor, such communication being a veto message concerning Senate Bill No. 1051.

Message from the Governor.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

SACRAMENTO, MAY 17, 1937.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 1051, the same being:

"An act to add section 3693 to the Political Code, relating to the conditions of employment at the Preston School of Industry."

Senate Bill No. 1051 would provide that no employee of the State at the Preston School of Industry should work more than 44 hours in any week, not receive a less minimum salary than $100 per month, and that such employee of the school shall be allowed, in addition to the salary above mentioned, the sum of $25 a month as a maintenance allowance.

Without considering the merits of this measure, I am not approving it. For the reason that the Personnel Board has already ordered a thorough study of salary ranges for all classes of employees in the State service, for the purpose of ascertaining and equalizing salary ranges to the present economic conditions.

The technicians of the Civil Service Department have already commenced the survey and study of this question in an effort to adjust and equalize the salaries of the State's approximately 20,000 employees. To select one institution and make those changes, without reference to the other institutions and employees of the State, will not be helpful in undertaking to realize for all employees and institutions of the State the objects sought in this bill for one institution.

I am, therefore, returning Senate Bill No. 1051 without my approval.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK P. MERRIAM, Governor of California.

Senate Bill No. 1051 ordered placed on the unfinished business file.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 47.

Relative to memorializing the President of the United States to extend to the governments and dominions of the World invitations to participate in the Pacific Exposition and Mercado at Los Angeles in 1940.

WHEREAS, The Nations of North, Central and South America today face the dawn of a new era and the world looks to the nations of the Western Hemisphere and the Orient, along whose shores live two-thirds of the people of the entire World, as the theater of its future activities, especially in the fields of industry and commerce; and

WHEREAS, The 42 Nations which comprise this Pacific Littoral are faced with similar problems and possessed of identical opportunities and ideals, and, to an unusual degree, must depend upon one another for the achievement of these opportunities and for the fulfillment of the ideals, particularly from the standpoint of industry and commerce; and

WHEREAS, The destiny of this country lies largely in its ability to coordinate its forces and to meet with the other Nations of the Western Hemisphere on a basis of mutual friendship and cooperation for the equal benefit of all; and

WHEREAS, The establishment of a permanent world mart and exhibition, including in its scope all the Nations in the Western Hemisphere, will promote, to the largest possible degree, a spirit of friendship and cooperation between these Nations who today trade with each other on a steadily increasing scale; and

WHEREAS, Such a permanent world mart and exposition—designated—Pacific Mercado—has, after years of persistent study, now moved out of the sphere of contemplation into process of completion, in the city of Los Angeles; and

WHEREAS, The Pacific Mercado is of a permanent character, and every year after its inaugural there will be set aside a period of time wherein the Nations may assemble their exhibits in a special and comprehensive display to which the entire World may be invited; and

WHEREAS, During the remainder of the year, the Pacific Mercado will be what its name implies—a meeting place for the merchants, manufacturers and traders of the peoples who participate—a permanent trade mart; and

WHEREAS, The Pacific Mercado, at Los Angeles, will be the first permanent exhibit held in the Pacific Littoral, as well as the first World mart which will display the products, not primarily of one Nation, but of more than 40 nations; and

WHEREAS, The assembled exhibits will represent not only industry and commerce alone, but art and culture as well—the fruits of the labor and genius of the various Nations involved; and

WHEREAS, The Pacific Mercado, in its landscape structures and equipment will be of enduring character and will justify each invited Nation in erecting permanent structure for the housing of its exhibits, and a general meeting place between its officials and between its merchants and their customers; and

WHEREAS, Among the features planned will be special facilities to house the consulates of the various Nations; and

WHEREAS, The ensemble will constitute a symmetry of beautifully designed steel and concrete structures and landscaping that will be without parallel in the history of World exhibitions; and

WHEREAS, The Pacific Mercado has the unqualified indorsement of the Governor of California, the Legislature and other public officials as well as outstanding groups of business executives as furnishing a gathering-place on our shores where the civilizations of the Western Hemisphere and of the Orient may meet for an exchange of ideas and commodities, thus helping all to solve common problems and weld all together in a common cause; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate of the State of California, jointly. That the Legislature of the State of California hereby respectfully urge the President to extend, on behalf of the Pacific Exposition and Mercado of Los Angeles, invitations to the governments and dominions of the World to participate in the Pacific Exposition and Mercado of 1940; and be it further

Assembly Bill No. 2028—An act to amend an act entitled "An act to authorize and control the deposit in banks and money belonging to or in the custody of any county, city and county, city, town, municipality or other public or municipal corporation within this State, and to repeal all acts or parts of acts in conflict with this act," approved April 28, 1933, by amending section 1 thereof and by adding a new section thereto to be numbered section 3a, relating to the deposit of public moneys, to declare the urgency thereof, and to provide that this act shall take effect immediately.

Bill read third time.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 2. There is hereby added to said act a new section to be numbered section 3a to read as follows:

Sec. 3a. Notwithstanding any of the provisions of this act the treasurer may, and he is hereby expressly authorized, to deposit funds and to enter into contracts relating thereto with any State or national bank in compliance with and subject to such provisions and conditions relating to the payment of interest on public funds as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by any act of the Congress of the United States or rules or regulations of any department or agency of the Federal Government adopted pursuant thereto and which said acts, rules or regulations impose lawful and binding regulations governing the payment of interest on deposits of public funds by member banks of the Federal Reserve System or banks the deposits of which are insured by the Federal deposit insurance corporation and which acts, rules or regulations governing the payment of interest are in conflict with the provisions of this act. Such treasurer may, during the existence of such conflicting provisions between such Federal law or regulations and the provisions of this act, with the consent of the governing body of the county, city and county, city, town, municipality or other public or municipal corporation, determine what amount of money shall be deposited as inactive deposits and the rate or rates of interest thereon, and shall determine what amount of money shall be deposited as active deposits and shall enter into such contract or contracts with such depository or depositories as in his judgment will be to the public advantage so to do, which contract or contracts shall fix the duration of deposits and the rate or rates of interest thereon, if any, and provide conditions for the withdrawal and repayment thereof and, within the requirements of section 4 of this act, prescribe the security therefor. Upon the enactment by the United States of any law removing restrictions imposed upon banks by the laws of the United States or by any regulation thereunder relative to the payment of interest upon public funds, any such agreement theretofore entered into by any treasurer and any bank shall be subject to termination by either party thereto.

Sec. 3. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore go into immediate effect.

The facts constituting such necessity are as follows: Upon the expiration of two years after the enactment by Congress of the Banking Act of 1935, signed by the President August 23, 1935, said act prohibits all banks, members of the Federal Reserve System, from paying any interest upon any deposit in the United States, including deposits of public funds made by or on behalf of any State, county, school district, or other subdivision or municipality, which is payable on demand, and makes the payment of interest by such banks on all such deposits, other than those payable on demand, subject to limitation by regulation by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Said Banking Act of 1935 also authorizes the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System to define "demand" and "time" deposits and to determine what will be deemed to be a payment of interest and to prescribe such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary, and also requires that no such bank shall pay any time deposit before its maturity except upon such conditions and in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the said board.

Unless the laws of the United States and of the State of California be brought into harmony, in this respect, on or before August 23, 1937, it will become mandatory that very large sums of public money be withdrawn from deposit with banks and that all amounts so withdrawn be held by the treasurer in his own possession and handled in currency.

It is necessary that the withdrawal of such an amount of currency from circulation at one time be prevented and that the radical and objectionable changes in the handling of public financial transactions that would immediately ensue, as an inevitable consequence of such withdrawal and holding of currency, be obviated and that the means of deriving revenue from the depositing of public funds be impeded as little as possible. This act will permit deposits of public moneys to be made in such manner as to comply with the Federal requirements. This act is necessary in order to provide for the economical, orderly and safe handling of such moneys.

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring. That the Legislature of the State of California, at its fifty-second regular session commencing on the fourth day of January, 1937, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the houses voting therefor, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California that section 31 of Article IV, of the Constitution of the State of California be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 31. The Legislature shall have no power to give or to lend, or to authorize the giving or lending, of the credit of the State, or of any county, city and county, city, township or other political corporation or subdivision of the State now existing, or that may be hereafter established, in aid of or to any person, association, or corporation, whether municipal or otherwise, or to pledge the credit thereof, in any manner whatever, for the payment of the liabilities of any individual, association, municipal or other corporation whatever; nor shall it have power to make any gift or authorize the making of any gift, of any public money or thing of value to any individual, or corporation whatever; provided, that nothing in this section shall prevent the Legislature granting aid pursuant to section 22 of this article; and it shall not have power to authorize the State, or any political subdivision thereof, to subscribe for stock, or to become a stockholder in any corporation whatever; provided further, that irrigation districts for the purpose of acquiring the control of any entire international water system necessary for its use and purposes, a part of which is situated in the United States, and a part thereof in a foreign country, may in the manner authorized by law, acquire the stock of any foreign corporation which is the owner of, or which holds the title to the part of such system situated in a foreign country; provided further, that irrigation districts for the purpose of acquiring water and water rights and other property necessary for their uses and purposes, may acquire and hold the stock of corporations, domestic or foreign, owning waters, water rights, canals, waterworks, franchises or concessions subject to the same obligations and liabilities as are imposed by law upon all other stockholders in such corporation; and

Provided further, that nothing contained in this Constitution shall prohibit the use of State money or credit, in aiding veterans who served in the military or naval service of the United States during time of war, in the acquisition of, or payments for, farms or homes, or in projects of land settlement or in the development of such farms or homes or land settlement projects for the benefit of such veterans.

The California Veterans' Welfare Bond Act of 1921 (Statutes of 1921, Chapter 578), as enacted at the forty-fourth session of the Legislature of the State of California, authorizing the issuance and sale of State bonds in the sum of $10,000,000, for the purpose of creating a fund to carry out the provisions of the California Veterans' Welfare Act, providing land settlement for veterans (Statutes of 1921, Chapter 580), and the provisions of the "Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase Act," providing farm and home aid for veterans (Statutes of 1921, Chapter 519) is hereby approved, adopted, legalized, validated and made fully and completely effective irrespective of the vote that may be cast upon the proposition of approving or disapproving such Veterans' Welfare Bond Act of 1921 at the general election of November 7, 1922. All provisions of this section shall be self-executing and shall not require any legislative action in furtherance thereof, but this shall not prevent such legislative action.

And provided, still further, that notwithstanding the restrictions contained in this Constitution, the treasurer of any city, county, or city and county shall have power and it shall be his duty in making such temporary transfers from the funds in his custody as may be necessary to provide funds for meeting the obligations incurred for maintenance purposes by any city, county, city and county, district, or other political subdivision whose funds are in his custody and are not lawfully expended through his office. Such temporary transfer of funds to any political subdivision shall be made only upon resolution adopted by the governing body of the city, county, or city and county directing the treasurer of such city, county, district, or city and county to make such temporary transfer. Such temporary transfer of funds to any political subdivision shall not exceed $5 per cent of the funds received by said political subdivision, shall not be made prior to the first day of the fiscal year nor after the last Monday in April of the current fiscal year, and shall be repaid from the taxes according to such political subdivision before any other indebtedness of such political subdivision is repaid from such taxes.

And provided further, that the roll in Graceland at Los Angeles County, when authorized so to do, be a part of the water district owned by said county held for that purpose, pay from the surplus of the public service department of said city the amount of any assessment or assessments levied by said city between the eleventh day of May, 1921, and the expiration of this amendment, for the replacement of water mains to the extent of any amount expended for the project or assessed at the time said payment is so authorized; and that no statute of limitations shall apply in any manner.

And provided further that notwithstanding anything contained in this or any other section of this Constitution, the Legislature shall have power by general and uniform laws to provide for the apportionment of funds out of the State Treasury for county, city and county, city or other municipal purposes.

Your Committee on Liquor Investigations appointed pursuant to resolution of the Senate dated January 18th, 1937, beg leave to report that, subsequent thereto, a further study of the matters relating to the sale and disposal of alcoholic beverages was carried on by your committee which resulted in the drafting and submission to the Senate of Senate Bill No. 425, which has now been adopted by the Senate and is now pending in the Assembly.

Under the resolution authorizing such committee, the work was to be completed prior to the adjournment of the present Legislature, and it is the opinion of the committee that all work which such committee can do and perform in relation to said matters prior to such adjournment has been completed, and that such committee should be discharged, and that the unexpended balance made available for the use of such committee should be returned to the Senate contingent fund.

It is the further opinion of the committee that much good could be done by a continuance of the study of the problems involved in the manufacture, sale and disposal of alcoholic beverages by an Interim Committee of the Senate, and we recommend that appropriate action be taken by the Senate prior to adjournment, looking to a further study of such matters. We submit herewith a resolution providing for the discharge of the committee and the restoration of the unexpended fund to the Senate contingent fund.

Respectfully submitted

President of the Senate in the Chair.

At four o'clock and thirty-five minutes p.m., Hon. George J. Hatfield, President of the Senate, in the chair.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 5. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, within the meaning of section 1, Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California and as such shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

Underlying the State lands described herein, there is a reservoir of crude petroleum and natural gas, which, according to official reports of and to the Legislature, lies under said State lands. In the past the Legislature has adopted legislation prohibiting drilling for oil or gas on the tide or submerged lands of the State but in the case of the lands herein described such legislation has been defeated and the policy of the State frustrated by the operations of private concerns and individuals drilling from sites on private lands wells bottomed on State lands. With many such private companies, the State has entered into agreements whereby for a valuable consideration and payment of royalty to the State easements have been granted authorizing such persons to abstract oil, gas, and other petroleum products from said State lands. Other persons and companies with whom the State has no agreement, may be found, upon an accurate survey showing the location of wells, to be trespassing on said State lands and thus depleting the natural resources underlying the State lands without payment to the State of royalty or compensation of any nature.

Also, there is before the Legislature certain legislation pending which would provide for the leasing and development of said State lands by the State or through leases executed by the State.

In order to give effect to such intended legislation; to preserve the right of the State to royalties being received from those having executed agreements of easement with the State; to provide for the prosecution of those trespassing without permits; to prohibit further agreements of easement being executed by the Division of State Lands, it is necessary that the existing agreements be approved and no future agreements be executed allowing any additional wells until such time as there is passed comprehensive legislation directly authorizing the development or prohibiting future development of the natural resources owned by the State.

NOES—Senators Garrison, Holohan, Olson, and Westover—4.

The question being on the passage of Assembly Bill No. 2149.

The roll was called, and Assembly Bill No. 2149 passed by the following vote:

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 23 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 35.

Relative to requesting and directing the Division of Highways and the California Highway Commission to locate, or relocate, State highways so as to avoid congested areas, and requesting and directing maps of congested areas to be made or establish new new school buildings or grounds so as to minimize traffic hazards to pupils.

WHEREAS, At the present time many State highways, including most through fares carrying through traffic, both of commercial and passenger vehicles, are now located so as to require such traffic to pass through congested areas and areas adjacent to schools, and business and residential districts of the larger cities, and

WHEREAS, The location of such highways adjacent to schools in populous areas endangers the lives and limbs of school children; and

WHEREAS, The location of such highways in congested areas retards the flow of traffic and hampers the flexibility thereof; and

WHEREAS, The through traffic, both of commercial and passenger vehicles interferes with the use by the citizens of the community of their own streets; and

WHEREAS, The desire to remove all through traffic from congested areas leads them to attempt short cuts, and to become lost and delayed, and increase the hazard of accidents which would be avoided by removing through highways from such congested areas; and

WHEREAS, The present appalling toll of automobile accidents requires that sound and effective measures be taken to relieve congestion on the highways and to speed the traffic moving at an even and unobstructed pace; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate concurring, That the California Highway Commission and the Division of Highways of the Department of Public Works are and hereby are requested and directed to locate or relocate, as the case may be, the existing routes that pass the populous and within the shortest possible time, the State highways so as to avoid congested areas in cities other than cities of the sixth class, and particularly mention made in the vicinity of schools. Said California Highway Commission and Division of Highways are directed to making such location or relocation in avoid congested areas, to acquire such land and property as deemed to such property as may be necessary, in so far as may be practicable, to avoid location of such congested areas which would depreciate the advantages of such location or relocation.

The boards of education in the State of California are directed and requested to locate any new school buildings or grounds wherever considered to be best to may be practicable, in places which will result in the least possible exposure of pupils to traffic hazards.

Article 3. Persons Eligible.

1520. The provisions of this chapter for the support of needy children apply to and include children of a parent who is committed to a State or Federal hospital or who has been deprived of civil rights by reason of commitment to any prison.

1521. For each abandoned infant or foundling and for each dependent illegitimate infant, who has been relinquished for adoption, who is or becomes dependent upon such institution or county there shall be paid by the State the sum of fifteen dollars per month from the time it becomes dependent upon such institution or county until its decease, or until it is adopted or reaches the age of two years, after which age such institution or county shall receive the same sum for such infants as for orphans.

1522. No child over the age of eighteen years is a needy child within the meaning of this chapter.

1523. No child for whose specific support there is paid the sum of twenty-five dollars or more per month, other than under the provisions of this chapter, is a needy child within the meaning of this chapter.

1524. No child maintained in an institution for whom a bona fide offer of a proper home has been made is eligible for further aid; but no institution shall be required to surrender a child to any person of religious faith different from that of the child or the parents of the child.

1525. No child is eligible to receive aid unless he has residence in the State.

For the purposes of this chapter, a child has residence in the State if he has been physically present in the State for one year immediately preceding the date of application or if his parent or parents have resided in the State for the period of one year immediately preceding the date of application, or if he is born in the State.

1526. Except as provided in section 1512, no child is eligible to receive the aid provided for in section 1511 unless he has had residence in the county in which application is made for the period of one year immediately preceding the date of application.

For the purposes of this chapter, the county residence of the child shall be determined in accordance with the following rules:

(a) The residence of the father determines that of the child during the lifetime of the father, unless the father has abandoned the child, has been legally deprived of his custody, or is in fact living separate and apart from his wife, in the latter case the residence of the child is determined by that of the parent who has his custody.

(b) If the child's residence is not determined under subdivision (a) hereof, then the residence of the mother determines that of the child unless the mother has abandoned the child or has been legally deprived of his custody. The residence of the husband shall not be deemed the residence of the wife if they are living separate and apart and in such case each may have a separate residence dependent upon proof of the fact and not upon legal presumptions. The residence of the parent having custody of the child determines his residence.

(c) If the residence of the child is not determined under subdivisions (a) or (b) hereof, then the residence of any individual to whom his custody has been legally awarded and who has taken charge of the child with the intention of giving him a permanent home determines his residence.

(d) If the residence of the child is not determined under the provisions of subdivisions (a) or (b) or (c) hereof, his residence, if he is an orphan, is that of the last deceased parent who had his legal custody.

(e) If the child has been temporarily removed from the custody and control of his parents, his residence is the residence of the parent who last had his legal custody.

(f) If the child has been declared permanently free from the custody and control of his parents, his residence is the county in which the court order was issued.

1527. Any child qualifying for and receiving aid from any county, who removes to another county of the State, shall be entitled to aid after one year's residence in the county to which he has removed. The removal from one county to another county in this State of any child receiving aid shall not work a forfeiture during such one year period of the aid previously awarded. The county to which such child has removed shall provide necessary medical or hospital care, or both, during the one year period of establishment of residence under this section. Except in emergency cases the county providing such medical and hospital care shall give immediate notice to the county granting the aid. The county granting the aid shall within thirty days of receipt of notice, accede to the plan of the county to which the child has removed or provide an adequate substitute plan. If such county fails so to do within thirty days the county offering such medical and hospital care may proceed, and it may demand payment for such care from the county granting the aid. The costs of such care shall be a proper charge upon the county from which the child has removed.

1528. In case of a dispute between counties as to the responsibility for the support of a needy child, either county may submit the dispute to the State Department of Social Welfare. The decision of the department thereon shall be binding on the counties.

Article 4. Administration and Procedure.

1550. Except as provided in section 1557 of this code, application for aid on behalf of any child shall be made to the county in which the child has residence as defined in section 1526 of this code or if the child has not such residence in any county, but is otherwise eligible, his application may be made through the county in which he is at the time of application. The county shall promptly investigate all applications in the manner and on terms prescribed by the State Department of Social Welfare. The county shall approve or deny such application.

1551. If aid is denied, modified, cancelled or not granted within a reasonable time, the applicant or recipient shall have the right of appeal upon filing a petition with the State Department of Social Welfare, and shall be afforded an opportunity for a fair hearing. The head of the Division of Aid to Needy Children of the State Department of Social Welfare shall set the appeal for hearing before the State Social Welfare Board and shall give no parties involved in such appeal notice of the time and place of the hearing. At the hearing, the applicant or recipient may appear in person, by counsel of his own choosing, or in person and by such counsel. The State Social Welfare Board shall consider the appeal and shall affirm the appeal or award and as prescribed in this chapter. The county shall then pay to the needy child the sum, if any, awarded by the State Social Welfare Board. The decision of the board shall be binding upon the county.

1552. If the application is granted by the county in the calendar month in which it was signed, payment of aid shall commence as of the date the application was signed; but if the application is granted by the county in a subsequent month, payment shall be commenced as of the first day of the month in which the application is granted. Thereafter all payments shall be made monthly in advance by warrant of the county.

1553. During such time as grants of aid are made available to the United States Government for aid to dependent children in this State, and allocated by the State, the State Treasurer, shall, from the sums so granted, pay to each county (a) an amount which shall be used exclusively as aid to dependent children, equal to that proportion specified by the United States Government in so granting or making the sums available, not counting so much of such expenditure with respect to any child for any month as exceeds the payments paid by the United States Government in granting or making such sums available, and (b) an additional amount equal to each county's proportionate share of any amount so granted or made available to this State by the United States Government for the costs of administration with each month additional amount shall be used exclusively for paying such administration costs. The State Department of Social Welfare shall determine the portion of the amount so granted or made available for administration costs to be paid to the counties. The State Department of Social Welfare shall adopt rules and regulations which shall be of uniform application for determining the proportionate share of the respective counties of the portion so determined to be paid to each county.

1554. From the sums appropriated in section 1510 of this code, the State Treasurer shall pay to the county, for each child to whom aid is given under the provisions of this chapter, an amount equal to the amount appropriated under section 1510, less an amount which shall bear such proportion to the amount paid by the State Treasurer under the provision of section 1510 of this code as the amount of aid given to the child, as the amount appropriated in section 1510 bears to the total amount of aid given to the child.

1555. The method of computing and paying the amount provided for in sections 1510, 1553 and 1554, for each quarter, shall be as follows:

(a) The State Department of Social Welfare shall, prior to the beginning of each quarter, estimate the amount to be paid for such quarter to each county under the provisions of sections 1510, 1553 and 1554. This estimate shall be based on a report which shall be filed by each county containing (1) its estimate of the total sum to be expended in such quarter in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, and stating the amount appropriated or made available by the county for such expenditure in such quarter, (2) records showing the number of needy children receiving aid under the authority of this chapter in the county, and (3) such other information and investigation as the State Department of Social Welfare finds necessary.

(b) The State Department of Social Welfare shall then certify to the State Controller the amount so estimated by it, reduced or increased, as the case may be, by any sum by which it finds that its estimate for any prior quarter was greater or less than the amount which should have been paid to the county under this chapter for such quarter, except to the extent that such sum has been applied to make the amount certified for any prior quarter greater or less than the amount estimated by the State Department of Social Welfare for such prior quarter.

(c) The State Controller shall thereupon draw the necessary warrants, and prior to the audit or settlement by the State Department of Social Welfare, and the State Controller, the State Treasurer shall pay to the treasurer of each county the amount so certified.

1556. Reports of aid to needy children paid out under this chapter shall be presented by the respective counties at times and in the form prescribed by the State Department of Social Welfare. Such reports shall be audited by the State Department of Social Welfare and the State Controller and, when and in the amount approved, shall be allowed to said county as a credit to apply against advances made under subdivision (a) of section 1555.

1557. An institution maintaining a needy child may make application to the State Department of Social Welfare for aid for the child. Unless the application is made for a child who comes within the provisions of section 1521 of this code it shall be supported by proof satisfactory to the department that the child does or does not have residence as provided in section 1526.

1558. If the application is filed by an institution and is granted by the State Department of Social Welfare in the calendar month in which it was signed, payment of aid shall commence as of the date the application was signed; but if the application is filed by an institution and is granted by the State Department of Social Welfare in a subsequent month, payment shall be commenced as of the first day of the month in which the application is delivered to the State Department of Social Welfare by the person in charge of the institution, except where payments are made under the provisions of section 1521 of this code. In no event shall payments of aid antedate the date of application. An institution or county which maintains any abandoned child shall submit proof of abandonment sufficient to demonstrate the genuineness of the claim to the State Department of Social Welfare.

1559. Claims for aid to needy children in institutions, eligible under the provisions of this chapter to receive aid, shall be presented by the institutions at times and in the form prescribed by the State Department of Social Welfare. Such claims shall be audited by the State Department of Social Welfare and the State Controller. When and in the amount approved, the State Controller shall draw the necessary warrant for the amount allowed in favor of the institution, and the State Treasurer, on presentation, shall pay the same from the sums appropriated in section 1510. No money appropriated by the State to any institution claiming aid under this chapter shall be expended either in improvements or in the erection of new buildings by such institution.

1560. The State Department of Social Welfare shall: (a) make rules and regulations for the proper maintenance and care of needy children; (b) make rules and regulations for the administration of aid to needy children; (c) inquire, at any time, into the management of any institution receiving aid under the provisions of this chapter, or into the management, by any county, of aid to needy children. Such rules and regulations shall be binding upon the institutions and counties.

If compliance by an institution or county with the provisions of this chapter and the rules and regulations of the State Department of Social Welfare can not be enforced in any other manner, the institution, or county refusing to comply with such provisions, rules and regulations or to permit the inquiry provided for in this section shall not thereafter receive aid under the provisions of this chapter until it has complied with all such provisions, rules and regulations and has permitted the inquiry by the State Department of Social Welfare, if such inquiry is demanded.

1561. The State Department of Social Welfare shall make such reports, in such form and containing such information, as the Federal Social Security Board from time to time requires, and shall comply with such provisions as the board from time to time finds necessary to assure correctness and verification of such reports.

Article 5. Establishing Fact of Death to Determine Right to Aid.

1570. When the right of any child to receive State aid, county aid, or State and county aid, depends upon the presumptive death of the father of the child, any person interested in the welfare of the child may file in the superior court of the county in which the child resides a petition setting forth the facts giving rise to the presumption that the father is dead and praying that such presumption of death be judicially ascertained and established by the court.

1571. The clerk shall set the petition for hearing by the court not less than ten days subsequent to its filing, and, unless the petition is filed by the district attorney, shall deliver forthwith a copy of the petition, to be furnished by the petitioner, to the district attorney of the county. To this copy there shall be appended, or there shall be indorsed thereon, a statement of the time and place fixed for the hearing.

1572. The court shall hear the petition and all objections interposed thereto. If, as a result of the hearing, the court is satisfied that the evidence adduced in support of the petition is sufficient to establish the presumption that the father of the child is dead, it shall make an order adjudging such father to be presumptively dead. The clerk shall not charge or collect any fee for filing the petition or for any other service rendered by him under the provisions of this article.

1573. A petition under this article once heard and denied shall not be renewed in the same or any other court except upon the ground of newly discovered evidence. Any subsequent petition shall contain a recital of the former presentation and denial of a similar petition, and shall distinctly set forth a statement of the newly discovered evidence.

Article 6. Transportation of Needy Children.

1580 A county may transport needy children to proper homes without the State, when such homes are offered, and the State shall pay one-half of the total expense necessarily incurred in effecting such transportation.

Sec. 3. This act shall become effective on the first day of the month next succeeding the nineteenth day of the final adjournment of the Fifty-second Legislature of California."

If the minor shall have been placed in the twenty-four-hour school by order of the superintendent of schools of such district, the parent, or guardian with whose consent such minor was so placed in such school, shall have the right, upon application to the superintendent of schools who placed him therein, to secure the release of said minor and his restoration to the care, custody and control of such parent or guardian. the juvenile court or other proper court for action, as provided under the Juvenile Court Law, approved June 5, 1915, as amended.

3.679a. If any person contributes to the absence of any pupil from such school without permission first having been obtained from the principal thereof, or advises, connives at, or aids or assists in such absence or conceals any such pupil after any such absence, such person is guilty of a misdemeanor.

3.683a. Each twenty-four-hour school may conduct clinics for the diagnosis and observation of children and may advise parents and school authorities regarding courses of study or treatment in the interests of the normal development of any child and to prevent waywardness and delinquency.

3.684a. The cost of securing sites or constructing and equipping buildings and in general the cost of housing and equipping twenty-four-hour schools including the necessary dormitories, dining halls, and other living quarters for pupils and employees of the district shall be a charge against the funds of the school district maintaining the same. The governing board of any such district may employ such principals, assistants, teachers, and employees as are necessary in the judgment of the board for the proper conduct of such twenty-four-hour schools and pay them from the funds of the school district. The expenses of lodging and boarding pupils residing within the buildings of any twenty-four-hour school shall be paid from the sums received from contracts with the parents or guardians of said pupils, or from the funds of the county within which such school is located paid to the school district in pursuance of court orders for the maintenance of pupils therein.

3.685a. This article shall be construed in conformity with the intent as well as the express provisions thereof and shall confer upon the governing board of any twenty-four-hour school or schools that may be created under the provisions of this article, authority to do all those lawful acts which it or they may deem necessary to promote the prosperity of such school or schools, or to promote the well-being and education of all minors entrusted to their charge. 6.408. It shall be a misdemeanor for any publisher or his representative to offer for sale any textbook to the high schools of California unless said book has been officially filed and there is on file in the office of the State Board of Education a valid bond, conditioned as herein provided in full force and effect.

Such committee shall be constituted and shall conduct its investigation under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the State Board of Education. A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to section 31 of Article IV of the Constitution of said State relating to the lending of public credit.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring: That the Legislature of the State of California at its fifty-second regular session commencing on the fourth day of January, 1937, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses of the said Legislature voting therefor, hereby propose to the people of the State of California that section 31 of Article IV of the Constitution of said State, relating to the lending of public money, be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 31. The Legislature shall have no power to give or to lend, or to authorize the giving or lending, of the credit of the State, or of any county, city and county, city, township or other political corporation or subdivisions of the State now existing, or that may be hereafter established, in aid of or to any person, association, or corporation, whether municipal or otherwise, or to pledge the credit thereof, in any manner whatever, for the payment of any individual, association, corporation, municipal or other corporation whatever; nor shall it have power to make any gift or authorize the making of any gift, of any public money or thing of value to any individual, municipal or other corporation whatever; provided, that nothing in this section shall prevent the Legislature granting aid pursuant to section 22 of this article; and it shall not have power to authorize the State, or any political subdivision thereof, to subscribe for stock, or to become a stockholder in any corporation whatever; provided further, that irrigation districts for the purpose of acquiring the control of any entire international water system necessary for its uses and purposes, a part of which is situated in the United States, and a part thereof in a foreign country, may in the manner authorized by law, acquire the stock or any foreign corporation which is the owner of, or which holds the title to the part of such system situated in a foreign country; provided further, that irrigation districts for the purpose of acquiring water and water rights and other property necessary for their uses and purposes, may acquire and hold the stock of corporations, domestic or foreign, owning waters, water rights, canals, waterworks, franchises or concessions subject to the same obligations and liabilities as are imposed by law upon all other stockholders in such corporation; and

Provided further, that nothing contained in this Constitution shall prohibit the use of State money or credit, in aiding veterans who served in the military or naval service of the United States during time of war, in the acquisition of, or payments for, farms or homes, or in projects of land settlement or in the development of such farms or homes or land settlement projects for the benefit of such veterans.

The California Veterans' Welfare Bond Act of 1921 (Statutes of 1921, Chapter 578), as enacted at the forty-fourth session of the Legislature of the State of California, authorizing the issuance and sale of State bonds in the sum of $10,000,000, for the purpose of creating a fund to carry out the provisions of the California Veterans' Welfare Act, providing land settlement for veterans (Statutes of 1921, Chapter 580), and the provisions of the "Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase Act," providing farm and home aid for veterans (Statutes of 1921, Chapter 519) is hereby approved, adopted, legalized, validated and made fully and completely effective irrespective of the vote that may be cast upon the proposition of approving or disapproving such Veterans' Welfare Bond Act of 1921 at the general election of November 7, 1922. All provisions of this section shall be self-executing and shall not require any legislative action in furtherance thereof, but this shall not prevent such legislative action.

Nothing contained in this Constitution shall prohibit the distribution of any surplus, or portion thereof, in the veterans' farm and home building fund arising out of the operation of the Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase Act (Statutes of 1921, Chapter 519), by refunds, or credits on account, or otherwise, to veterans who have served in the military or naval service of the United States during time of war and who are, or have been, purchasers under said act, and whose payments under said act have contributed to such surplus. Any distribution made to such purchasers entitled to participate therein shall be made in sums which bear the same ratio to the surplus being distributed as such purchasers' payments into the fund bear to the total of all payments into the fund which contribute to such surplus.

And provided still further, that notwithstanding the restrictions contained in this Constitution, the treasurer of any city, county, or city and county shall have power and it shall be his duty to make such temporary transfers from the funds in his custody as may be necessary to provide funds for meeting the obligations incurred for maintenance purposes by any city, county, city and county, district, or other political subdivision whose funds are in his custody and are paid out solely through his office. Such temporary transfer of funds to any political subdivision shall be made only upon resolution adopted by the governing body of the city, county, or city and county directing the treasurer of such city, county, or city and county to make such temporary transfer. Such temporary transfer of funds to any political subdivision shall not exceed 85 per cent of the taxes accruing to such political subdivision, shall not be made prior to the first day of the fiscal year nor after the last Monday in April of the current fiscal year, and shall be replaced from the taxes accruing to such political subdivision before any other obligation of such political subdivision is met from such taxes.

And provided further, that the city of Glendale, of Los Angeles County, may, when authorized so to do, by a majority of the voters thereof voting at an election held for that purpose, pay from the surplus of the public service department of said city the amount of any assessment or assessments levied by said city between the eleventh day of May, 1921, and the ratification of this amendment, for the replacement of water mains, to the person or persons owning the property so assessed at the time said payment is so authorized; and that no statute of limitation shall apply in any manner.

Report of Special Committee.

The following report by Special Senate San Francisco Harbor Committee was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL SENATE SAN FRANCISCO HARBOR COMMITTEE PURSUANT TO SENATE RESOLUTION ADOPTED JUNE 7, 1935, TO THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Senate of California:

Your special Senate San Francisco Harbor Committee begs leave to report:

The Scope of Committee Investigation.

The Special Senate San Francisco Harbor Committee, consisting of Senators Herbert W. Slater, William P. Rife, Ray W. Hays, Harry L. Parkman, and Walter McGovern, chairman, was appointed by the President of the State Senate, pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Senate on June 7, 1935, for the purpose of gathering information and conducting investigations concerning the operation and administration of the water front and harbor of San Francisco and of the business methods employed by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners as well as of all property under the jurisdiction of said board and of all laws and matters incidental thereto and to make a report on the same, together with its recommendations, if any, to the State Senate at the fifty-second session thereof.

When the resolution calling for the creation of this committee was presented to the Senate, a discussion arose concerning the purpose of such resolution whereupon Senator Walter McGovern, who introduced the same, agreed to the suggestion that if the resolution was adopted he would not seek to have the proposed special committee invade the controversial field of State versus municipal ownership of the water front of San Francisco nor attempt to go into such matters relating to said harbor as were then being investigated by the Special Senate Committee on Civil Service.

When our committee was organized it passed appropriate resolutions in accordance with the understanding of the Senate concerning the scope of the inquiry and declared it to be the policy of this committee to avoid any question concerning municipal versus State ownership of the water front of San Francisco, the political issues involved in the selection of the personnel of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, or the civil service status of its employees. The committee decided to limit its investigation to the business methods employed in the operation of such water front and to the reasons why such water front had been losing business in recent years.

In addition to different business meetings of the committee at which various documentary evidence concerning the purpose of the investigation was introduced in evidence, a public hearing, duly noticed, was held by the committee in the auditorium of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners in the Ferry Building in San Francisco, at which time many civic organizations and various shipping interests were represented. The testimony of numerous witnesses was taken under oath, at that hearing which testimony was transcribed by a shorthand reporter and is now a matter of record. An additional public hearing was held by the committee in the State Capitol in Sacramento on January 20, 1937, at which time further documentary evidence and oral testimony was introduced into our records. Correspondence with other Pacific Coast ports produced information of value. The University of California also contributed important data.

The committee employed the services of Mr. C. Preston Mead, a public accountant, who made a comparative check of some of the books and records of the board. Mr. Mead's report to the committee is in evidence and in our records. It was impossible for us, considering the size of our appropriation, to cause anything like a comprehensive audit of the books of the board to be made.

Facilities.

San Francisco Bay, the entrance to which is through Golden Gate Strait, is generally regarded as one of the greatest natural harbors in the world. It is land locked, has an area of 150 square miles, is 48 miles long, has a maximum width of 13 miles and has 100 miles of shore line, 79 miles of which offer safe anchorage. It is the only combined river and bay port on the Pacific Coast. The state-owned water front of San Francisco extends for approximately 10 miles, about half of which is developed.

All of that part of the water front of San Francisco Bay, within the political boundaries of the City and County of San Francisco, that is used for commercial water traffic, is operated by the State of California under the jurisdiction of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners. Excepted from the jurisdiction of that board is the Presidio, the Federal military reservation, certain Federal Government wharves at Fort Mason, the noncommercial yacht harbor and aquatic park, where pleasure yachts are berthed, and which is owned by the City and County of San Francisco, certain facilities belonging to the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation at China Basin and Hunter's Point, as well as water front property belonging to the Western Sugar Refinery at the foot of Twenty-third Street.

The state-owned facilities, the largest on the Pacific Coast and the second largest in the United States, include forty-three major piers with connecting wharves, fifteen passenger and automobile ferry slips, six commercial ferry slips for the accommodation of railway car barges and the transfer of railway freight cars. There are approximately seventeen miles of berthing space in this area which provide approximately one hundred and ninety-three acres of cargo area. The piers range in length from 400 feet to 1300 feet and in width from 100 feet to 386 feet. The slips between the piers are from 150 to 350 feet wide.

Three of the forty-three piers were constructed between 1900 and 1905, five between 1906 and 1910, sixteen between 1911 and 1915, ten between 1916 and 1920, three between 1921 and 1925, four between 1926 and 1930 and two between 1931 and 1935. Wharves situated on the north side and on the south side of the channel between Third and Seventh streets were constructed at various periods between 1910 and 1936; those wharves on the south side of China Basin and east of Third Street were constructed between 1907 and 1909; those at Central Basin were constructed between 1908 and 1913; those on Lake Creek east of Lead Street were constructed in 1917 while those on the south side of Lake Creek east of Third Street were constructed in 1932.

Special facilities include a banana refrigeration tunnel, a green tunnel, a banana terminal and two banana warehouses for the convenience of general cargo. At Fishermen's Landing there is a 100-foot refrigeration shed and building devoted to the commercial trade, complete with accommodations provided for approximately three hundred fishing boats.

The Ferry Building, across the street from the foot of Market Street, included the main Ferry Building, Annex, the victual and currier.

There are also buildings situated on the small lots, a street lighting system, an underground drainage system, various other improvements as well as the San Francisco sewerage which is a long, half-century long Fishermen's Wharf on the north to Pier 54 on the south. This pier is built on a dredging of 100 feet to 20 feet below what is the surface of the water and being the pier is with rock, the upper crest being trimmed with a concrete coping or curb.

The Port Line Railroad has a total of over 67 miles of track of which about 50 miles are dedicated to the city. The other 17 miles is situated on property of the Port Line and is dedicated and subject to the main line railroad company. The tracks located at Fishermen's Wharf are an alternative route to the San Francisco and Northern Pacific Stations. The Port Line Railroad is the main line line, carrying the goods and the commodities from the lines entering San Francisco. It carries from the wharves to the main street, with some freightage north of Ocean Avenue. The Port Line Railroad is connected to the main line with various branches, including the main line, the main line and the main line, with a car capacity of over 100,000 cars, with a total of over 100,000 cars. The Port Line Railroad is a public utility, owned by the Port Line Railroad, and is a public utility, with a total of over 100,000 cars, as well as other facilities, including the main line, the main line and the main line.

The land under the wharf is a public utility, with a total of over 100,000 cars, and other facilities, including the main line, the main line and the main line. The Port Line Railroad is a public utility, owned by the Port Line Railroad, and is a public utility, with a total of over 100,000 cars, as well as other facilities, including the main line, the main line and the main line.

The Lake Creek Grays Terminal is equipped with various cranes and loading machinery, and is used exclusively for the handling of goods for export. This Terminal is the center of a large grain terminal, which has been the main commodity handling center for the city. The terminal has been greatly increased in capacity to the present, including the main line, the main line and the main line. The wharf is 540 feet long and 100 feet wide, and a third pier, 100 feet long and 100 feet wide, covering a section of the wharf and extending over a total of 100 feet on the west side. This will increase the capacity of the wharf to over 100,000 cars.

The State Products Terminal at Ocean Wharf is a modern structure, 812 feet in length, the building is 114 feet high, and the main line. This terminal is designed for the handling of goods and other products, including the main line, the main line and the main line. The main line is a public utility, owned by the State Products Terminal, and is a public utility, with a total of over 100,000 cars, as well as other facilities, including the main line, the main line and the main line.

A fumigating plant, specially designed for the fumigation of goods, is located on the State Products Terminal, and is a public utility, with a total of over 100,000 cars, as well as other facilities, including the main line, the main line and the main line.

Pier 38 is equipped with various facilities, including the main line, the main line and the main line. The main line is a public utility, owned by the State Products Terminal, and is a public utility, with a total of over 100,000 cars, as well as other facilities, including the main line, the main line and the main line.

A banana terminal, similar to those in New Orleans and Mexico and unique on this coast, has been established. This terminal, serving at frequent intervals, discharge many tons of bananas each trip.

The floating equipment, owned by the Port Line, includes three tug boats, two tug boats, four scows, four pilers, and one derrick. The derrick is 100 feet long and 100 feet wide, and is a public utility, with a total of over 100,000 cars, as well as other facilities, including the main line, the main line and the main line.

The board carries several lots and submerged lands under its jurisdiction on its books, at a valuation of $44,487,104.11. It also carries several lots under its jurisdiction on its books, at a valuation of $2,200,707.92. Other property, including floating equipment and property is carried on its books at a valuation of $911,247.17. At present, no valuation was made on its books of property revaluation made in 1929. There was a sinking fund accumulation on the books of the board as of June 30, 1936, amounting to $2,200,707.92 and current assets of cash, receivables and stores totaling $2,427,070.10. This made a total valuation by the board of its assets on the last mentioned date of $89,634,004.13. This was subject to current liabilities to the amount of $482,258.72 and to a funded debt indebtedness represented by outstanding bonds amounting to $18,103,000.

According to the books of the board its total assets showed a net worth as of June 30, 1936, in the total sum of $70,688,251.16. To this should be added the outright grant by the Federal Government (PWA) to the State board in the sum of $60,494.25.

The Embarcadero, a 200-foot thoroughfare, maintained by the board, runs along the water front between the piers and the wholesale district of the city for a distance of approximately ten miles. The northern half of the water front is developed to its full capacity. Approximately five miles of undeveloped water front land, owned and controlled by the State, are available for additional piers, wharves, channels and industries.

While the facilities for handling freight on the water front of San Francisco compare favorably with other Pacific Coast ports, the handling of water passenger traffic at the port is not as up to date as in the Port of Los Angeles.

No State Money Invested in San Francisco Water Front.

As set forth in various printed reports of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, "the port is and has always been entirely self supporting. The cost of operation, maintenance, construction, bond interest and sinking fund charges is paid out of harbor revenues."<sup>1</sup>

"All the cost of construction and maintenance of seawalls, buildings, wharves, etc., as well as operating expenses, are paid out of harbor receipts; San Francisco Harbor thus paying its own way, not a dollar coming out of the public treasury or taxes."<sup>2</sup>

"During this period of sixty-five years (under State ownership) the port has been absolutely self supporting. It has met all the expenses of operation and maintenance and all bond interest and sinking fund charges, out of earnings, and except for bonds to the extent of $15,103,000, outstanding as of June 30, 1928, has also paid out of earnings the cost of developing the harbor and constructing the facilities, the minimum value of which is estimated as seventy-five million dollars."<sup>3</sup>

Historical.

Although the coast of California was discovered on September 28, 1542, by John Rodriguez Cabrillo, a Portuguese navigator in the service of the King of Spain, and although other European explorers, including Sir Francis Drake,<sup>4</sup> sailed in close proximity to the Golden Gate, during the succeeding 200 years, what is now called the Bay of San Francisco was not discovered until early in November, 1769, when Father Juan Crespi and Sergeant Jose Francisco Ortega, attached to the land expedition of Captain Don Gaspar de Portola, the Spanish Governor of California, first observed the waters of that bay from the near by hills on the San Francisco peninsula. This land expedition that discovered San Francisco Bay actually was in search of Monterey when the discovery was made.

Prior to that discovery the great outside sweep of water between Point San Pedro, Point Reyes and the Farallone Islands was called the Bay of San Francisco by various map makers, writers and explorers. Nobody had yet observed the Golden Gate or guessed the existence of the great harbor within. When the landlocked bay was discovered in 1769 and named the Bay of San Francisco, the water outside the heads was called the Gulf of the Farallones. The name of the Golden Gate was suggested by John C. Fremont.

The first boat to enter the waters of San Francisco Bay was the Spanish ship "San Carlos," under the command of Lieutenant Don Juan Manuel de Ayala which entered the bay in August, 1775. Thereafter its officers made a survey of the bay.

In March, 1776, Lieutenant Juan Bautista de Anza, at the head of a small land expedition, acting for the Viceroy of New Spain, visited what is now San Francisco and selected the sites for the Presidio and the Mission.

On June 27, 1776, Lieutenant Don Jose Moraga, accompanied by Fathers Francisco Palou and Benito Cambon, at the head of a small party of soldiers and colonists, arrived at the Laguna de las Dolores on the banks of which was to be erected the Mission of Saint Francis of Assisi, and which was to be permanently called the Mission Station. The following day the soldiers received the news that President at the north-west corner of the mission. Upon the first announcement of the men in San Francisco were sent to a small building near San Francisco. The military headquarters at the 1st were located in the building on September 17, 1776, while the Mission was destroyed on October 1st of the same year.

For 70 years after the discovery of San Francisco, the islands were left almost empty. The Spanish had declared Monterey the only place to be settled on the peninsula and the Bay of San Francisco was closed to foreign ships. Only a few young men entered the area through the Transmanzanillo to San Francisco northern settlements which continued to work in the fields. From the trade for meat, grain and other supplies and instruments, to the sale of the products of the islands.

It is of record that the English ship of war "Hector" visited the bay in 1791, when the officers and crew first became aware of the "Isle of Yucatan."

California became a Mexican province with the independence of that country in 1821. In 1827 the French trader, "Amable," sailed the ship "Amable" the same time Captain Francisco Wilcox, Governor of the Republic of Texas, surveyed the harbor and surveyed the surrounding country, at the same time that was subsequently known as "Wilcox Bay" which was mentioned by the United States Government in 1891. The U. S. S. "Albatross" which visited the harbor in 1841, was the first American vessel to visit the bay.

The growth and prosperity of the Portuguese colonies at São Paulo, São José, Santa Cruz, São Rafael and Sacramento during 1604-1605 were almost entirely the result of the development of chocolate, sugar, wine and tobacco through the part of São Francisco. That trade was monopolized in 1605 by Two Years Before the May.

age in the July and August months. The Mexican government has been asked to take steps to prevent the migration of the Mexican population to the United States. The first waterhouse was built in the State of Mexico, and the second in the State of San Francisco. At that time, the Mexican government was asked to take steps to prevent the migration of the Mexican population to the United States.

On July 8, 1846, a letter from John P. Kennedy, U. S. S. P. Commissioner, lying in San Francisco, fully revealed the existence of the Society of American Lying in San Francisco. A letter from John P. Commander Montgomery landed on July 9, 1846, at Yerba Buena with a detachment, including a detachment of San Antonio, Texas, troops, that carried the United States flag in front of the customs house, 500 N. Point Street (now called Portsmouth Square) with a salute of 21 guns from the ship. Commander Montgomery then read the proclamation of Congress for Sumner, Texas. Lieutenant Henry B. Watson was then appointed as military commander of the town in charge of the newly established American post. Watson was instructed by the military department, being given the title of "captain" in recognition of the troubles and being wounded at Yerba Buena. On July 11, 1846, Watson reported to Commander Montgomery from the "marine barracks" at Yerba Buena, "some all was quiet. In the forenoon and on July 9, 1846, Lieutenant J. S. Moore, U. S. Navy, landed a detachment of marines from the "Porpoise" which detachment proceeded to the Mexican fort at the entrance to the harbor of San Francisco Bay toward the American flag. There they found three old Spanish lances gone and some other abandoned military equipment.

On July 11, 1846, Lieutenant Missroon proceeded with a small party of marines, mounted as cavalry, to the Mission Dolores. Documents were collected and placed in the customs house under charge of Lieutenant Watson. On that day, July 11, 1846, the British warship "June" anchored in the bay whereupon Watson's marines were withdrawn from the shore to assist in defending the "Pittsmouth" in case the "June" showed a disposition to fight. On July 17, 1846, Montgomery reported to Commodore Sloat that the entrance to San Francisco Bay could be "fortified in a manner to repel the whole Navy of Great Britain"; as war with that country was "now more than ever likely to occur," he recommended that heavy guns should be placed there.

On July 15, 1846, Commodore Sloat issued a general order in which he announced that the American flag was flying at Yerba Buena, Sutter's Fort, Sausalito, Sonoma and Bolaga and that "the forces of the United States have quiet possession of the magnificent bay of San Francisco and all the country within 100 miles around."

The discovery of gold at Coloma by James W. Marshall in January, 1848, brought a horde of fortune hunters into the harbor of San Francisco. Ships from all over the world visited the bay. Almost overnight the bay became a teeming port of deserted ships.

In February, 1849, the steamship "California" arrived in port with the first group of gold seekers. By December of that year approximately 700 ships had entered the bay and more were on the way. At one time there were 500 abandoned ships in the harbor. Their crews had deserted for the mines and many of these ships were run ashore and used for lodging houses, warehouses and wharves.

When Captain Montgomery assumed martial control of the community, in the name of the United States Government, his official proclamation reserved the promontory known as Clark's Point and adjacent territory for military use. This prevented private development. Later army engineers from Washington rescinded the order and released Clark's Point for public use.

In 1847 William S. Clark, the owner, built a rude timber structure on the rocks and that became San Francisco's first wharf. It was located at what is now Broadway and Battery streets. This wharf was constructed under most trying circumstances. Clark fashioned a pile-driver out of old pig iron he obtained from a whaler at Sausalito and with this rude contrivance he fastened his piles.

In 1848 Broadway Wharf was built and that improvement served as the principal terminal for both ocean and river traffic. This was followed by an era of haphazard private water front development. Wharf building became the major industry of San Francisco.

Ownership of Water Front.

When the first settlement was made in San Francisco the absolute title to all land in Spanish California was vested in the crown of the King of Spain. There was no individual ownership of land. The King held actual possession of the ground occupied by the military Presidio and of the adjoining lands. The aborigines were recognized as the owners, under the crown, of all the lands actually needed for their support. This provision left a portion of the land open to colonization.

In 1773 the viceroy of New Spain at Mexico City authorized the Spanish Commandante of the Presidio at San Francisco to grant lands to those individuals whose condition of life and whose obvious willingness to work the lands would result in the betterment of the community.

The reglamento, or decree, was supplemented in 1781, by another which limited the amount of land that could be granted to colonists. Although the Spanish Cortes passed a decree in 1813 reducing all public lands to private ownership, that fact did not become officially known in California until 1820.

Under Mexican rule the National Government was authorized to seize all lands needed for National defense and to restrict frontier colonization by aliens. In 1822, after the establishment of Mexican rule in California, the Provincial Disputacion passed an act establishing ayuntamientos. These local legislative bodies, similar to American city councils, were supplemented by justices of the peace and prefects. It was these officials who later made land grants to private owners, which grants became the subject of so much confusion and litigation under American rule.

In 1821 Jose Figueroa, the provincial governor of California, in response to the requests of colonists in San Francisco, decreed that a popular election for a municipal corporation should be held and at the same time he declared that the settlement on the Bay known as Yerba Buena was to be the official trading post. In 1837 the municipal government obtained permission to remove its headquarters from the Presidio to Yerba Buena Cove and the civil provincial authority defined the municipality's jurisdiction as including the cove, the Presidio and even the Contra Costa or other coast on the east bay.

Governor Figueroa refused to grant lands on the cove to private owners on the premise that Yerba Buena was destined to become a commercial center, and, consequently, should not be broken up into residential property. This order was later rescinded and parcels of land were granted to private owners.

In 1820 the cave site was exposed and built out in streets and the jurisdiction of the municipality over the Golden Gate was removed. The name Yerba Buena was changed to San Francisco in 1847.

In 1845, the first (present) Montgomery's report, the San Francisco municipality had a population of about 2000, mostly Spanish because the surrounding settlements at Yerba Buena and the Mission District. About half of 90 the settlers were of Spanish blood, approximately 10 were foreigners, and the balance were native Indians and Klamath from the Humber Indians. At that time there was a total population of about 1000 in the bay area from San Jose to Sausalito.

In February, 1848, following the discovery of gold, the city had 1000 inhabitants. By August of that year the population had increased to about 2000. The following winter there were 30000 people in the bay.

Most of the newcomers were foreign settlers who preferred to return to their homes after they made their money, but the small but steady new small settlement for the erection of anything but temporary structures. San Francisco became a city of tents and shacks, many of which were situated over the marsh and tule-lands on wharves, salies and other bays.

Montgomery's report on the western slope in 1849 found that just within the city proper by 1851 progress of the extended settlement over the Golden Gate building space. The city suffered severe losses in the years between 1848 and 1851.

Most of the old Spanish and Mexican governments' laws were repealed until 1849. In March 1847 General Mariano W. Kearney, the American military Governor, in a document known known as the "Kearney Grant" assumed the right of the United States to grant to all citizens between Charles Point and Russian Point in 1849 of the jurisdiction of San Francisco. This grant provided the sale of water lots for navigation and other purposes. The "Kearney Grant" was the beginning of 1849 to San Francisco's water front area. American settlement.

In November of 1849 the State Constitution was adopted by the people and a Governor, Justice and other officers elected under the new American system. In 1850 the first Legislature met in San Jose, California and met for the first time in the building known as the State. The Legislature passed San Francisco's first municipal charter on April 15, 1850. Municipal officials were then directly elected and the new government established.

The Legislature of 1850 passed several laws affecting the port of San Francisco, including an act authorizing the issue of 1000 city bonds to be sold in order to pay the port, whose debt it was to maintain all wharves in the harbor. To protect wharves against vessels using the same, and to protect all wharves from San Francisco city authorities, the act was passed. George Shattuck was the first man elected to that office. His most important work was secured from a tonnage toll of four cents per ton.

The first sale of tide and submerged land from several of these sections to private persons which caused many complaints when the gold rush brought great demand for property and water front facilities. The Legislature of 1850 authorized the sale by the State of water lots west of the State Street in the San Francisco water front. In December of that year first tidals comprising 150 "acres" or "lots" were sold to private parties at an average price of nearly $1000000.

The acquisition of California by the United States was accompanied by much confusion concerning the title to and security of title to land under the Spanish and Mexican governments applied considerable uncertainty. There were numerous and conflicting claims to some parts of California when the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo was signed between Mexico and the United States. The United States Government appointed a commission to determine most of the disputed titles.

In 1851 the Legislature created a Public Debt Commission with authority to fund the Public Debt of the new city of San Francisco and to provide for its payment. This was done by converting the debt into securities bearing interest at 10 per cent. The Public Debt Commission was retained by the Legislature as a general representative of the State in matters affecting the disputed title to the water front lots of San Francisco.

In 1856 the office of harbor master was abolished in favor of two dock masters who were appointed by the city at a salary of $4000 each. In 1857 the office of Municipal Harbor Master was restored and the affairs of San Francisco continued to show their harbor master until 1874 although the State virtually took control of the water front in 1863.

The Legislature of 1851 approved the use and occupation of certain small bays and water lots to the municipality of San Francisco for a term of 99 years. At the same time the Legislature confirmed the "Kearney Grant" to the municipality, with the proviso that the city should pay to the State 25 per cent of all monies accruing from the future sale or disposition of such lots. The Legislature also confirmed previous sales by the city of water front lots, and it likewise reserved the right to regulate wharf construction. The city was authorized to regulate wharfage rates and it was directed to keep the spaces between wharves free for shipping.

Due to the unsettled social and economic conditions San Francisco's new venture in municipal government proved hazardous. Within 19 months over $2,000,000 had been necessarily expended, a large debt was incurred and the sources of income depleted on account of fires, epidemics and the mass movement of men to and from the mines. Unsatisfied judgments against the city, some on account of the care of the indigent sick, finally resulted in the sale of municipally owned property. The heavy influx of transients and adventurers created a population which was difficult to control, although some of the evils of those days were corrected by the vigilantes.

In 1856 the State Legislature granted a new charter to San Francisco which consolidated the city and county governments and redefined its boundaries by detaching and creating the new county of San Mateo which, up to that time, had been part of San Francisco County. At that time the Legislature empowered the municipality to erect, repair and regulate wharves and docks.

Under the Mexican regime some fifty Vara lots in the new settlements were sold for $12.50 each and one hundred Vara lots for $25 each. This practice continued with the American occupation. William S. Clark obtained possession of several of these lots.

The municipal authorities of San Francisco, acting under the charter of April 15, 1850, granted a series of franchises for the erection of wharves on its water front and by October, 1851, there were over 6,000 feet of new privately owned wharves constructed at an outlay of over $1,000,000. The Market and California Street wharf, extending 2,600 feet from First Street, and 40 feet wide, was erected by William E. Dennis, at a cost of $400,000.

In the meantime, under municipal control, many of the docks were retained and operated by their private owners. The confusion of dual control of the water front together with private ownership of the wharves resulted in an agitation for centralized authority.

In 1863 the Legislature created a Board of Harbor Commissioners of three, one of whom was to be elected by the people of the State, the other to be selected by the Senate and the Assembly of the State and the third to be elected by the people of the City and County of San Francisco. They were to serve for a period of four years. That Board of Harbor Commissioners was authorized to take possession of and hold the water front of San Francisco from the "waterline" of the City and County of San Francisco for a distance of 600 feet into the waters of the bay. The act, of course, excluded from the authority of the commissioners all rights, privileges, franchises and easements held under valid existing leases. It was provided, however, that the commissioners should take over the same in the name of the State as soon as the leases thereon expired. It was also made the duty of the Board of Harbor Commissioners to publicly challenge the authority by which those lands were privately held and upon the failure of those in possession of the same to describe their authority it was made the duty of the commissioners to institute legal proceedings to gain possession of the same. The commissioners were authorized to collect by law all rates, fees, tolls and wharfage, to keep the sea walls and other water front improvements in good repair, to dredge the waters and adjoining the docks, to construct new wharves and piers, to make necessary improvements, to construct a sea wall between Harrison Street and Vallejo Street and to collect tolls, wharfage, cranage and dockage.

Under the provisions of this act the commissioners were authorized to lease to the highest bidder all wharves under their control for a period not to exceed three years. The duties, responsibilities and qualifications of the commissioners and their employees were defined. At that time 25 per cent of the membership of the Legislature came from San Francisco. That city then had 10 State Senators and 20 Assemblymen.

When the new Board of Harbor Commissioners came into being various private parties who held rights to certain of the wharves refused to surrender their occupancy and the chief duties of the new board was the conduct of litigation in respect to harbor claims. The troubles of the new board were complicated by the cave-in of the Steamer Street wharf which resulted in the dumping of 150,000 feet of redwood lumber into the bay. Other wharf properties collapsed at about that time.

During the first five years of its tenure the board had only 10 wharves under its dock management, the remaining 20 wharves being held by private companies on a monthly rental basis.

Between 1850 and 1870 the Legislature passed numerous acts authorizing the construction of various privately owned wharves in San Francisco.

In 1871 the Board of State Harbor Commissioners ceased granting leases to private companies and by 1874 all but six were under public supervision. As the leases on those six wharves expired the board assumed full control. The Board of Harbor Commissioners was involved in much litigation because of the uncertainty of the tenures that were granted under the Mexican, Spanish and early American rule. Finally a commission was appointed to deal especially with the composition of litigation in respect to harbor claims.

The sea wall of San Francisco was discussed under the supervision of the board and the sea wall surrounded the city at the water front. The wall had been built under conflicting building laws and various regulations.

The original plan for the sea wall, adopted in 1867, called for a high, solid trench as a base, with a rock foundation, extending 60 feet in width at the bottom and 15 feet at the top. A concrete top for the wall was to be placed on top of the foundation and the wall was to be built on a solid concrete wall about 15 feet high and over 7 feet wide at the bottom, with a top of 15 feet. In 1870, the plan was changed when it became known that a solid and higher wall would be built on the water front inside the city. This plan is now known as the "California" plan.

About the time most of the litigation regarding the city of the water front of San Francisco was settled, the transcontinental railroad lines, important. in the harbor. The State does not contribute anything to such police protection on the water front except by refunding to San Francisco the State gasoline tax imposed on the gasoline used in the operation of the police launch.

The fire protection on the water front of San Francisco is also furnished under the supervision of the City and County of San Francisco. The city owns, maintains and operates two fire boats, the "David Seaman" and the "Dennis T. Sullivan", which are modernly equipped boats specially constructed for fire fighting purposes. These boats are devoted entirely to fire protection service along the San Francisco water front although one of them is available in emergencies to aid other communities on the bay of San Francisco in the extinguishment of ship and wharf fires which are beyond the capacity of the local fire departments of such communities. Two craft operated by the State board carry fire fighting equipment.

As part compensation for the fire protection service rendered to the state-owned water front by the city owned fire boats the State of California pays to the City and County of San Francisco one-half of the cost of maintaining said boats. The payments made by the State of California to the City and County of San Francisco for the fiscal year 1935-36 was $18,944.19. The city expended a like amount for the maintenance of the boats.

The original investment in the boats, amounting to a total of $323,993.64 was borne entirely by the city.

In addition to the maintenance of those two fire boats several shore fire fighting units owned and maintained by the City and County of San Francisco are stationed on or near the water front. All of such units respond to first alarms of fire received from boxes located upon or adjacent to the wharves on the water front. The State does not contribute anything to the maintenance of these shore units.

This fighting equipment owned and operated by the city, in immediate proximity to the water front, consists of 14 engine companies, 4 truck companies, 3 chemical companies and 1 rescue squad. Two assistant chief engineers of the fire department and six battalion chiefs of the fire department supervise the city firemen who operate that shore fire equipment.

The organization of the San Francisco Fire Department is such that in the event of a fire of greater extent than can be promptly handled with a first alarm assignment of officers and men stationed near the water front, additional officers, men and equipment can be moved in without delay. The entire fire department of San Francisco, together with all of its man power and facilities, are available for and whenever necessary to render service in fighting fires on the San Francisco water front as well as on boats lying in the harbor.

It is estimated that the investment of the City and County of San Francisco in its different fire fighting units, maintained on shore adjacent to the water front, approximate $75,000 each. This is exclusive of buildings and land. The total annual operating cost to the city in maintaining such shore fire fighting units adjacent to the water front (exclusive of units not adjoining the water front) is in excess of $800,000 per year. These units are, of course, maintained primarily for fighting fires occurring outside the state-owned area.

Although the Federal Government has primary control over health conditions on boats operating in navigable waters, the health department of San Francisco renders special service in administering State and municipal health laws and regulations on the San Francisco water front. All facilities of the Department of Public Health of San Francisco with reference to sanitary inspection, examinations of the water, food and milk supply to vessels entering and leaving the port as well as advice on housing the crews of such vessels and the sanitary conditions under which they live, including ventilation, are made available to the ship surgeons of all boats entering the port. Dr. J. C. Geiger, health officer of San Francisco, has had special training in that work. Laboratory examinations by the Municipal Department of Health are likewise made for visiting vessels when requested.

Ships entering and leaving the port also contact the city health department concerning the presence of contagious and communicable diseases. This also applies to ships at sea which communicate with the city health department by wireless. The local health department also cooperates in removing persons suffering from contagious diseases from the boats to the isolation hospital.

No charge of any kind is made by the Municipal Department of Health, either to steamship companies, passengers or to the State on account of such work.

Labor Differences.

The port of San Francisco, like many other American ports, has experienced considerable differences between ship owners and boss stevedores on the one side and their employees during recent years. The employers and the employees each blame the others for such labor troubles. During the progress of the most recent strike the chairman of our committee conferred with leaders of organized labor and with representatives of shipping interests with a view to offering the services of our committee to those groups in the hope that we might contribute something to industrial peace on the state-owned water front. The individuals who were thus contacted all expressed the opinion that our committee could not serve any useful purpose in any attempt to terminate their differences. It was generally believed that because of the extensive scope of the strikes the problem was submitted to the National Government.

The last big strike involving the water front of San Francisco began October 29, 1936, and came to an end on February 4, 1937. Members of the following unions were involved in that strike, namely, The Pacific Coast Marine Firemen, Oilers and Wreck Tenders, International Longshoremen, Marine Mates and Pilots, Local 90, Dock S. S., Amalgamated Radio Telegraphists, Marine Cooks and Stewards, Marine Engineers (Union), Association, Seafarers Union of the Pacific, including clerks, transportation, seafarers, longshoremen and other miscellaneous unions.

It was publicly stated that a total of 27,000 men were on strike at San Francisco during the 98 day period of the strike. A total of 75,000,000 tons of cargo were idle at the docks at San Francisco during that time. The Board of State Harbor Commissioners estimated a loss of approximately $150,000 in revenues to the board on account of the strike. Other Pacific Coast ports suffered proportionate loss on account of the strike because of the loss of cargo and passengers.

Loss of Business.

Although the water front of San Francisco, on account of natural advantages, is ranked among the great world ports, and while it is not surpassed, the second largest port in the United States and the largest on the Pacific Coast, the port has gradually been losing both freight and passenger business for a number of years. Commercial vessels still have not stopped the downward trend.

Undoubtedly there are several reasons for the growth of competitive ports at the expense of San Francisco. The development of oil fields near Los Angeles, seasonal traffic congestion at San Francisco after September, the development of agriculture, particularly near ports in relation to loading and unloading by the improved use of motor trucks, the development of the facilities of competing ports, and last but not least the State policy of not aggressively soliciting business all contributed to some extent to the decline in the port of San Francisco to maintain the relative supremacy in which are great advantages seem to utilize it. Of course the general business depression had a bad effect on the business of all Pacific Coast ports.

Several sets of figures were made available in this committee. All of such figures showed a falling off in recent years of the water freight and passenger traffic in and out of San Francisco.

The figures that present the loss of business in the least unfavorable light were furnished to us by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners. They cover the period between July 1, 1934 and June 30, 1936. They show the peak of freight tonnage in San Francisco in June 30, 1935, and a gradual decline. These figures are as follows:

NOTE—None of these figures from 1894 to 1936 include tonnage of inbound inland waterway and coastwise cargo reshipped. In certain reports issued by the board the figures from 1928 to 1936 include such freight shipments which total 7,948,611 tons for said 8 year period. We have no figures for such reshipped freight before 1928. Figures between 1917 and 1922 both inclusive, include tonnage over transport, ship building and sugar refinery wharves.

Available figures obtained from the Department of Commerce at Washington, D. C., show the following data for water-borne passengers in and out of San Francisco, including transbay terry passengers:

Year	Total passengers
1931	57,275,824
1932	46,625,090
1933	42,690,732
1934	43,512,588
1935	44,957,280
1936	Not available

Vessel Traffic, San Francisco Harbor.

From the same source are obtained the following figures relating to freight tonnage, in and out of this Port:

Year	Tonnage
1931	11,094,175
1932	7,950,226
1933	6,967,654
1934	7,883,034
1935	6,667,799
1936	Not published

It will be noticed that there is a difference between the Tonnage figures and those furnished to us by the State Board, and we would be inclined to doubt the completeness of the latter.

The continued years the shipping in this port have shown a gradual decline in recent years. Moving pictures have shown pictures for the past month from 20-1936, some stockpiled in surplus stock will be in the shipping yard. Tonnage collected for the year ending March 31, 1936, was $30,445,570 less than for the preceding fiscal year. Revenue from tonnage had during year amounted to $100,000,000, and if the same had been collected for the year ending March 31, 1936, it would have been $100,000,000 less than for the preceding year.

Loss of Passenger Business.

The loss of passenger business in and out of the Port of San Francisco in recent years is indicated by the following figures furnished to us by the Commission of Customs at San Francisco dated date of May 1, 1937:

PASSENGERS CARRIED BY STEAM VESSELS IN AND OUT OF SAN FRANCISCO
Calendar year 1933	1,001,995
Calendar year 1934	1,000,000
Calendar year 1935	1,000,000
Calendar year 1936	1,000,000

The foregoing figures confirm steadily more passengers go out of this port than in on United States Government transport boats. The office of the Collector of Customs at San Francisco (not approximately 1,000) is the only passenger in port and have the Port of San Francisco and are not included in the foregoing compilation. Ocean-borne passengers do not out of the country, but are not included.

Competitive Ports.

We made a direct request for information showing tonnage done for the last 20 years from the ports of Portland, Oakland, Stockton, San Diego, Seattle and Los Angeles. The management of the Port of Portland stated that it would require considerable effort to make an accurate and complete statement and that they were not in a position to give the information.

We are published in the management of the management of the Port of Oakland, Stockton, San Diego, Los Angeles and Seattle for the following information showing the gross tonnage in and out of these ports from 1917 to 1936:

The Port of Seattle has no records prior to the year 1936 showing the number of water front traffic passengers in and out of that port. The figures for 1936, however, show that 109,440 water-borne passengers from foreign ports arrived at the Port of Seattle and that 107,214 passengers for foreign ports departed from Seattle during that year. This compilation includes passengers to and from the nearby ports of Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., and, therefore, such figures include a class of passengers which are not included in the San Francisco figures.

Personnel.

All employees of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners are upon temporary service. There was an average of 140 persons employed by the board as of June 30, 1936. This represents a decrease of 100 persons, compared with 1935, since the end of the fiscal year of June 30, 1935. The reduction was made in the request of Governor Merriam.

The members of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners are: Charles W. McArthur, president; Daniel A. Flinn, and Dr. Clarence L. Sullivan. Mark H. Smith is the chief executive officer of the board.

Proceeding the date of our last meeting it was publicly stated that the president of the board, Mr. McArthur, had declined the offer to be engaged in the marine insurance business. Upon the removal of our chief executive and financial Mr. McArthur, there were, with respect to some members. The president declared the fact that Mr. McArthur, while engaged in the board's important business, and was engaged in the marine insurance business. Although it was not the intention of this committee to investigate the action of the various members who have been criticized against the members of the board, we received the attention of our competent audience that would tend to show contrary evidence on the part of the members of the board of their integrity. No such evidence was produced. President McArthur and the members of the board complained that this committee is not making up information and other which are needed in doing. We have no evidence whatsoever of any dishonest or corrupt action on the part of the members. Those representatives of shipping companies who in common with the board will could be persuaded to testify as to having secured satisfaction with the management of the present board. Some large and important shippers have approved the present management. Other and smaller representatives usually condemn the State harbor management.

The State's Policy in Port Operation.

Many of those concerned with the question of business in the international water front at San Francisco have complained because the State harbor management has not followed an aggressive policy in promoting the port in various forms of advertising and by the State administration of foreign and passenger traffic.

It is admitted that the State does not maintain the facilities of the port, but maintain offices or headquarters in facilities which are better may be obtained for the Port of San Francisco. No funds are expended for the board. None of the revenues of the harbor are expended in any attempt to obtain business for the port.

The municipality owned ports of San Francisco, Oakland, Stockton, Los Angeles and San Diego expend funds for advertising and solicitation of business. The privately owned Harbor Commission of the International Terminal, and the United Terminal, whose wharves are located in the main port of San Francisco Bay, also solicit business in an aggressive manner. The Oakland Municipal Port, the Hayward Terminal and the Fremont Terminal employ five freight solicitors each. All three municipalities maintain offices in San Francisco.

Most Pacific Coast port municipalities, including San Francisco, send traffic solicitors to various points within their home cities and States in an attempt to bring business to their respective ports.

The laws of the State of California prohibit the revenues of the governmental harbor of San Francisco being expended in soliciting business.

Attorney General U. S. Webb, on October 6, 1936, in an opinion concerning the validity of expending the revenues of the San Francisco water front in the solicitation of business for the port declared:

"The advertising of the port in the employment of traveling traffic agents or the maintenance of traffic offices in other ports does not seem to me to be directly necessary, suitable and appropriate to the carrying out of one of the express powers of the board under the name of the State in the carrying of the water front of San Francisco. It is obvious that the board may here all needed help, construct and operate facilities, fix and collect wharves, wharves, piers, etc., and operate all port facilities, without advertising the port. In fact, it is difficult to see how such advertising would aid in the carrying out of such powers, except in an indirect and remote manner. I think, therefore, that the power to do such advertising can not be regarded as necessary, suitable and appropriate for the purpose of carrying out any of the granted powers of the board.

"Section 2526, Political Code, provides that no greater amount of money shall, in the main, ever be collected as dockage, wharfage, tolls, rents, and emorage, than shall be necessary to construct and keep in repair such number of wharves, piers, landings, and thoroughfares, construct sheds, dredge slips and docks, construct a sea wall and harbor embankment 'as the wants of commerce shall require,' and pay incidental expenses allowed by the article governing the San Francisco Harbor. This last section would seem to indicate that instead of expending money to increase the business of the port, the powers of the board are restricted to providing facilities for the handling of such commerce as naturally and in the regular course of business shall come to the harbor. The section clearly reveals a purpose on the part of the State of providing facilities for commerce without any intention of making a profit therefrom. I therefore conclude that the board has no express or implied power to pay the cost of advertising the harbor or to employ traveling traffic representatives or to maintain agencies and offices for the promotion of harbor business."

In defense of the policy of the State in limiting the revenues of the state-owned harbor of San Francisco to operating and maintaining the same, without advertising or solicitation of business, it has been argued that it would be against the public policy of the State to expend its revenues in competition with ports owned and operated by its political subdivisions such as Los Angeles, Oakland, San Diego and Stockton.

Loss of Ferry Building Revenues.

The Ferry Building at the foot of Market Street has long been the center of bay passenger traffic in and out of San Francisco. This building, erected from the revenues of the port, has been a prolific source of income to the State for many years.

The routing of transbay passenger and freight traffic over the new San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, however, will seriously reduce the State's revenues on the San Francisco water front. The Harbor Board has no jurisdiction over the two new bridges leading into San Francisco.

The State Board of Harbor Commissioners estimates the immediate loss to the State, as soon as passenger traffic is inaugurated over the bay bridge, will be $13,069.30 per month or $156,722.10 per year. Others believe these figures are entirely too conservative and that the annual loss to the State on account of loss of Ferry Building revenues will approximate $250,000 a year. This does not include the anticipated loss from the Berkeley or Sausalito ferry slips.

The following table of present and estimated future Ferry Building revenues has been tabulated by the State Board of Harbor Commissioners:

"Mission Rock"

Considerable controversy throughout the years has centered about the proposed to sell to the State a public wharf property in San Francisco. This location is "Mission Rock." This rock is the top of a submerged island surrounded by deep water.

This privately owned property right in Mission Rock (approximately 3,500 sq. yards) extends from the westerly corner of Battery and Market streets, San Francisco. It lies about 200 feet easterly from the west of Pier 50 and is south of the approach to China Basin. It is listed in the official maps in the Assessor's Office in San Francisco as "Lot 1, Block 4536." The total land area contained in the property which the San Francisco Board of Supervisors in 1936 was in control of the pier facilities of the bay. The estimated 1936 pier area was estimated to total 12,000 acres, most of which, as above indicated, including the Mission Rock.

An inspection of the ground about the water has indicated that with the exception of a small portion of the area of "Mission Rock", for the most part, it is built up of rock, sand and gravel fill.

The improvements on the water front of the Mission Rock, constructed in wooden piling and are of little if any value.

Private ownership of this property was through a lease from the State of California conferred on Henry B. Coleman in 1913 for the duration of twenty years. The records of the State Treasurer, dated 1913, indicate that the State had sold it $24,500 for this property in November, 1913. The property was sold to the State in the name of "Mission Rock Company," having been purchased by the private owner under a deed from the California Landmark Company, dated June 8, 1908. The act authorizing the sale of this property to the State was contained in Public Law 10, passed on October 1, 1913, and the act was signed by the Governor of California.

It is of importance that the fact of the sale of this property to the State, November 1, 1913, is noted in the United States Navy. Although the National Congress in 1926 authorized the Navy Department to sell its surplus to the government if it had been done so. It has been publicly stated that the United States Government had not sold or disposed of its interest in the property in the United States Navy. The property owned by the State, although it is considered that the United States Government would transfer its title to the United States Navy to the property, but the fact of the property being sold by the State to the State is not a matter of record. According to the records of the Assessor's Office of the City and County of San Francisco, the property was valued at $141,000 in 1913, and the value of the property in 1914 was $141,000. The fact being noted in 1913 and the improvements thereon being valued at $20,000.

The owners of the property had been negotiating with the State to purchase from time to time, that the State had purchased by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, and that the State had sold by the State, in 1913, a 1,000-acre shipside terminal for the government of the agricultural products of the State.

This property was sold to the State by the Mission Rock Company in 1914 and in 1917 for the price of $141,000. It was again sold to the State in 1920 and in 1921 for the price of $141,000. It is noted that State officials once recommended that the State buy the land for $141,000.

Although various public authorities, including the State of San Francisco have urged that the State purchase Mission Rock and improve it with shipside facilities for the use of our State, it is stated in the report of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners that the present facilities are adequate to handle present business.

It is estimated that 25 per cent of the total freight tonnage (not passengers) passing over the wharves of the San Francisco water front come from California agricultural products. It is asserted that much more of our National California agricultural products, particularly perishable goods, could be shipped over the wharves of San Francisco if the State Harbor management would increase and increase the shipside and storage facilities of the port. It is asserted that the failure of the State Harbor management to make such improvements is due to the opposition of warehouse interests which, it is stated, would lose business if such additional facilities were provided.

The viewpoint of the agricultural interests of the State with reference to the management of the San Francisco water front was presented by Mr. John E. Pickett and Mr. Donald L. Ketter, professors of the Pacific Rural Press, who, in testifying before the committee, presented that results of the United States Government, which they presented to the committee, showed that refrigeration capacity in the San Francisco water front is totally inadequate to meet the demands of agriculture and that the Port of San Francisco has been losing much business from agriculture which it would otherwise retain if adequate shipside storage facilities for the use and benefit of agriculture were installed under the direction of the State Harbor Board.

These gentlemen pointed out that in export tonnage the ports of Oakland and Seattle had shown a gain during the time that the ports of Los Angeles, Portland, Tacoma and San Francisco had shown losses and that such results in the last mentioned ports the loss of the Port of San Francisco was greater than the loss of any other competing port.

These gentlemen assert that agriculturists as far north as the Rogue River Valley in Oregon would gladly ship their produce through the Port of San Francisco rather than through the ports of Seattle or Portland if they could get sufficient cold storage facilities at San Francisco. It is asserted by these gentlemen that the State harbor management at San Francisco is not sympathetic toward agriculture and that they are influenced by draymen and private cold storage interests. It was also pointed out that Portland, Seattle, Vancouver and other ports have "gone after the business and gotten it," whereas the San Francisco port management has not made any special effort to obtain such agricultural business for the port.

Messrs. Pickett and Kieffer objected to the personnel of the State Harbor Board on the grounds that it is improper to have persons in the insurance business and in the drydock business on the board. Objection was also made to the practice of assigning piers, from month to month, to steamship companies, instead of leasing the same, but we were reminded of the State laws which govern that practice.

In answer to the criticism of those agricultural interests that complain about alleged inadequate State cold storage facilities in San Francisco the harbor commissioners state that the present facilities are amply sufficient to take care of all agricultural needs in the state-owned harbor—that the State now maintains dry cold storage shipside facilities—that there is plenty of room in existing facilities for present needs and that if, and when, the necessity arises the State board will make necessary improvements on an adjoining pier—that the present grain terminal is amply to take care of all the grain that is transhipped through the harbor—that Mr. Birmingham who is at present in charge of the cold storage plant is a capable and efficient man, and on the job day and night.

Mr. W. F. Read of Sacramento, field department manager for the California Fruit Exchange, who stated that he represented the largest shipper of fresh fruit in California and that he was familiar with the cold storage facilities of San Francisco Harbor, and that, in his opinion, they were ample to meet the needs of agriculture. Mr. Read indicated in his testimony that those whom he represented were the largest users of the state-owned refrigeration cold storage terminal in San Francisco, that he was familiar with the facilities from the time the plant was built until this time, and that he and those whom he represents have always been able to obtain adequate space in that plant whenever they needed it and that, therefore, in his opinion there was no present need for the expansion of the state-owned cold storage facilities.

Mr. Read testified that in his opinion the facilities were modern and up-to-date. He stated that he believed that agriculture had no complaint against the facilities on the San Francisco water front and that the rates and services were satisfactory.

Conclusion.

There has been much controversy over the management and operation of the state-owned water front of San Francisco for a great number of years. An examination of the testimony before our committee and of various statements and documents that have been called to our attention indicate that there is considerable disagreement and confusion concerning the facts of the San Francisco water front.

So far as we know, this report is the first attempt to clarify such confusion and misunderstanding and to make all ascertainable facts a matter of record. We believe that the data herewith presented will prove to be the basis of a more intelligent and more comprehensive study of the management, operation and ownership of the water front of San Francisco and of the needs for agricultural and other interests in that port.

We hope that this report will be the beginning of a more careful and dispassionate approach to the various problems involved in the management, ownership and operation of the San Francisco water front.

Urging that a suitable part of public employment be given to the deaf citizens of the State.

As a result of the depression and the consequent lack of building and construction a dire shortage of housing facilities exists in this State and a large portion of such facilities as do exist are in a bad state of repair. There is also a great lack of investments which mortgage insurers may legally make and this act is necessary to permit mortgage insurers to make loans under the National Housing Act and the Federal Housing Act, thereby proving a safe investment for such insurers and stimulating prosperity, relieving the great shortage of housing facilities and effecting the repair and improvement of those housing facilities which are in need of improvement and repairs.

Resolution.

The following resolution was offered

By Senator Ingerson:

WHEREAS, In March, 1936, there were 20,000 patients in State hospitals and in March, of 1937, there were 25,000 and the hospital at North Adams hospital consistently at the rate of 4 to 10 per cent over past years during conditions; and

WHEREAS, Positive treatment has been discussed and somewhat practically demonstrated due to this steady increase in patient load accompanied by a steady increase in personnel and treatment facilities of the State hospitals, through new buildings have been added from time to time, the necessity having been toward domiciliary care rather than a more treatment program followed by preventive measures to reduce the number of patients admitted and by improved treatment methods to shorten the period of hospitalization and lessen the number of patients returned for treatment; and

WHEREAS, It is clearly indicated that a thorough study of the several elements of this problem is imperative to the end that suitable steps may be devised to break this otherwise needless cycle of constantly increasing patient load and consequent heavy capital outlay; and

WHEREAS, From the experience of other States, particularly that of Massachusetts, it would appear that other and different methods of caring for the insane, and early treatment of mental cases, may be accompanied and developed with the result that need for increased housing facilities in large measure may be obviated and a portion of the saving thus effected made available for improved equipment and more adequate personnel, both medical and nonmedical, for more extensive and effective preventive and curative work, ultimately reducing the patient load at the hospitals and increasing the proportion of persons competent to attend to their own affairs and participate normally in the life of the community; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of California, That a committee to be known as the "Senate Interim Committee on State Hospitals" is hereby created, consisting of _____ members of the Senate appointed by the President of the Senate, to conduct a thorough study of the subject of this resolution, and of every phase of that subject, and to report thereon, with its recommendations, to the Senate at and during the fifty-third session of the Legislature; and be it further
